

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

APRIL 1946

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

Published Four Times a Year; July, November, February and April, by the Alumnae and Former Students Association, Incorporated, of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro.

MEMBER OF AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

CLARA BOOTH BYRD, Editor

OFFICERS AND TRUSTEES OF THE ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

President: Ione H. Grogan

First Vice President: Iris Holt McEwen (Mrs. J. H.)

Second Vice President: Emily S. Austin

Recording Secretary: York Kiker

Executive Secretary: Clara B. Byrd

Board of Trustees: Louise D. Bell, Gertrude Rainey Creede (Mrs. T. B.), Phyllis Crooks Coltrane (Mrs. L. D. III), Sadie McBrayer McCain (Mrs. P. P.), Bettie Baise, Sarah Foust, Evelyn Mendenhall Thompson (Mrs. Blake T.), Mary Sterling Swain (Mrs. Horace), Julia Ross Lambert (Mrs. W. L.), Barbara Sutlive.

Vol. XXXIV

APRIL, 1946

No. 4

CONTENTS

	PAGE
UP AND DOWN THE AVENUE.....	1
THE DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY AT WOMAN'S COLLEGE	2
By Glenn R. Johnson
JULIUS ISAAC FOUST	4
THE FAMILY TREE	6
DR. ALEX MATHEWS ARNETT	6
WINFIELD KEYSER ROGERS	8
AMONG THE ALUMNAE.....	9
MARRIED	23
NECROLOGY	28
MASQUERADE (Poem)	29
Patronize Our Advertisers
	Page
Montaldo's	24
Silver's—5c—10c—$1.00	24
Columbia Laundry	24
Blue Bird Taxi	24
Vicks Vaporub	24
Phil R. Carlton, Inc., Retailers of Furniture, etc.	25
E. A. Woodell—Printing	25
Manuel's Restaurant	25
Bines, Jewelers	25
The Grill—Eats	25
Sills—Shoes	25
The Book Shop	26
Edith Stone & Co.	26
Odell Hardware Co.	26
Willie Book & Stationery Co.	26
Woolworth's	26
Yellow Taxi Co.	26
Service Taxi	26
Sears, Roebuck & Co.	27
Bell's Shoe Store	27
Dixie Laundry Shop	27
The College Shop	27
S. H. Kress & Co.	27
Eiford's Department Store	27
Seburn's, Jewelers	27
Lotus Restaurant	27
Gray Jewelry Co.	27
Matthew's Mill	27
Strickland's Book Shop	27
Greensboro Building Center	28
Charles Stores	28
Jos. J. Stone & Co.	28
National Jewelry Co.	29
Greensboro Nchi Batting Co.— Royal Crown Cola	29
Victor Shirts	29
The Moose—Restaurant	29
Bell's Dry Goods Store	Back Cover
Kearns Paint Co.	Back Cover
Mock, Judson, Voelzinger— Hosiery	Back Cover
Montgomery Ward	Back Cover
Southern Dairies	Back Cover

UP and DOWN the Avenue

THE COVER PORTRAIT for this number of the ALUMNAE NEWS is a photograph of the dogwood tree at the front entrance of McIver Building. Historical accuracy compels us to admit, however, that the tree really blooms white!

Commencement dates this year are Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Monday — May 31, June 1, 2, 3. The usual pattern will be followed. On Sunday morning, the baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, New York City. In the afternoon, there will be the usual informal gathering on the lawn in front of Chancellor and Mrs. Jackson's home. On Sunday evening, the Greensboro Orchestra and College Choir will unite in giving a concert in Aycock Auditorium. On Monday morning, the graduating exercises will take place as usual, when the members of the Class of 1946 will be presented their diplomas, and talks by Governor Cherry, a representative of the Senior Class, President Graham, and Chancellor Jackson, featured. Honorary degrees will also be conferred and awards announced. The Senior Ball will take place on Friday evening. Saturday will feature the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association, which will be called to order in Alumnae House at 10:00 o'clock a.m. Class Day is scheduled to take place on front campus that afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. In the evening the Play-Likers will give a complimentary performance of Barrie's fantasy, Dear Brutus.

Alumnae are cordially invited and urged to return to the campus for the commencement season. Because of food and labor shortage — and the alumnae are thoroughly conversant with these difficulties — it will not be possible for the college to provide either a formal reunion luncheon or dinner. However, visiting alumnae will be cordially welcomed to take their meals in the college dining halls. Moreover, rooms in the dormitories will be available on Friday night. Please make your reservation for rooms with the Alumnae Office as early in May as possible. We believe that visiting alumnae will find genuine enjoyment in the informal reunions which it will be possible for them to have — for instance, jam sessions in the dormitories, exchanging greetings here and there, eating together in small groups, attending the various commencement events together. We believe you will be able to recapture much of the enthusiasm and interest of your college days, even without the familiar reunion events of other years. We shall be delighted to see you — we hope you will come.

A committee composed of members of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina, and University and College officials appeared before the City Council of Greensboro on Tuesday afternoon, March 5, to petition for the closing of that section of Walker Avenue, from Forest Street to McIver Street, which bisects the college campus. As the alumnae will recall from the article in the February number of this magazine, the proposed plan of expansion of the campus, as prepared by the architects and approved by the Board of Trustees of the University, calls for the closing of this part of the avenue, in order that the new library and the extension to the Home Economics Building may be located to the greatest advantage. Naturally, opposition to the closing was also voiced at this hearing. The City Council did not vote on the proposition at this time, but took the matter under advisement. Since the hearing, a committee, composed of three members of the Council, three members of the opposition, and three members representing the petition of the college — Controller Carmichael, Chancellor Jackson, and Mr. John W. Clark, member of the University Board of Trustees — has been appointed to go into the question further and endeavor to work it out.

LOVELINESS REFLECTED!

This beautiful old pier mirror in Alumnae House was the gift of Auvila Lindsay Lowe '60 and her daughter, Mary Lowe Owens, Class of '34.

The Department of Sociology at Woman's College

by

GLENN R. JOHNSON
Head of the Department

Sociology was introduced into the curriculum of Woman's College by Chancellor W. C. Jackson in 1911, when he was head of the Department of History. The faculty at that time was opposed to having a department of Sociology and Economics at the college, but Dr. Jackson, who was interested in the development of sociology, economics, and political science, as well as history, persuaded President J. I. Foust to introduce into the History Department a course in Introduction to Sociology as the first subject other than history among the social sciences. The course was given for the first time in the second semester of 1911-1912.

This course was described in the catalogue of 1912-1913 as follows:

COURSE VIII.

Introduction to Sociology. For Seniors.

Four periods each week, second half of year.

The object of this course is to interest students in social phenomena and to give some acquaintance of the science of social interpretation. Much attention is given to such practical problems as charities and correction, punishment and reformation, labor conditions, the status of the negro, etc.

Instruction in sociology was given for only two years, but was resumed in 1917 when Professor H. H. Beneke came to the college as Head of Sociology and Economics. After being in Woman's College for two years, Professor Beneke resigned. He was followed by Professor Eduard Lindeman, who remained from 1919 to 1922. Professor Lindeman, with his dynamic personality, enthusiasm, and keen interest in social problems and community organization, developed a sustained interest in sociology and social welfare problems at Woman's College and in the state. Upon Professor Lindeman's resignation, Mr. Curtis Alvin Williams and Mr. Leo Rogin taught Sociology and Economics at Woman's College for one year. In 1923 the writer of this article came to the college as Professor of Sociology. A year later Dr. Albert S. Keister, who is now head of the Department of Economics, was made Professor of Economics. At this time history, political science, sociology, and economics were all included in the Department of History. A few years later sociology and economics were made separate departments, but political science has remained within the Department of History to the present.

GLENN R. JOHNSON

From 1923 to the present time the Department of Sociology has grown steadily in numbers of students enrolled and in teaching personnel. The number of majors in the department has increased from about five to nearly one hundred. The great increase in majors is due largely to an ever increasing opportunity in various fields for women who are trained in sociology, particularly in the fields of social work, and college and high school teaching.

Other teachers who have been in the department, not including the present staff, have been Mrs. Ada Davis Foust, Mrs. Evelyn McNeill Sims, Mrs. Frances White Mauney, Mrs. Lettie Hamlet Rogers, and Miss Leslie Syron. Mrs. Foust came to the college from The University of Chicago in 1926, retiring upon her marriage in 1933. Mrs. Sims, Mrs. Mauney, and Mrs. Rogers — all graduates of Woman's College — were instructors for short periods of time. Miss Syron resigned after two years as instructor to accept a position at Meredith College.

The staff in the department is now composed of Dr. Lyda Gordon Shivers, Miss Mereb Mossman, Miss Miriam Kligman and the writer of this article.

Dr. Shivers was a student in the University of Mississippi, where she received her A.B. degree in 1928, and an M.A. and LL.B. degree in 1930. In 1935 she was awarded the Ph.D. in Sociology at the University of North Carolina. She has taught sociology at the University of Mississippi, Texas State College for Women, and Mills College. Since 1925 she has been teaching at Woman's College, with the exception of one year which she spent as an exchange professor at Mills College. Among her many activities in the state and at the college, she has served as executive secretary of the North Carolina Conference of Social Welfare, and at the college as class chairman. She is now associate professor of sociology.

Miss Mereb E. Mossman was graduated from Morningside College in 1926, with the A.B. degree. In 1928 she received her M.A. degree at the University of Chicago. From 1928 to 1930 she was a social worker in the Chicago Orphan Asylum. From 1930 to 1935 she was head of the Sociology Department of Ginling College, Nanking, China. Upon her return from China she was made associate professor of case work at the University of Chicago. She has also taught in summer sessions at Woman's College, Montevallo, Alabama, and at the School of Social Work and Public Welfare at the University of North Carolina. In the summers of 1943 and 1945 she was associated with the Home Service Office of the American Red Cross. At present Miss Mossman holds the rank of associate professor of sociology.

Miss Miriam Kligman is instructor of sociology. She received the A.B. degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1943. She was junior research assistant with the Philadelphia Housing Association during 1943 and 1944. Her graduate work was done at the University of North Carolina, where she will receive her M.A. degree this year.

The writer of this article was graduated from Reed College in 1915 with the A.B. degree. He received the M.A. degree in 1916 from Columbia University, where he was the Richard Watson Gilder Fellow in Sociology. After two years of service in the Army, he resumed his study at Columbia for two years. In 1920 he became assistant professor of sociology at Bowdoin College. In 1923 he came to Woman's College as professor of sociology.

The Sociology Department does not function as a school of social work. Upon the consolidation of the three units of the University of North Carolina, all graduate work was to be concentrated at the University in Chapel Hill, where there is a School of Social Work. Students majoring in sociology at Woman's College receive the A.B. degree upon graduation. Our emphasis here is upon general education, as is the case with the other departments in the arts and sciences. However, it is true that an extremely large number of our majors enter the various fields of social work, usually after two years of graduate work at the best schools of social work. Among the various schools selected by our graduates are the University of North Carolina, the University of Chicago, Western Reserve University, Pittsburgh and New York Schools of Social Work. A smaller number of our majors have chosen to teach sociology in colleges, or the social studies in high schools. Others have entered journalism, business, and various other professions. At least ten majors have become college teachers of sociology. There are others, of course, desiring a good general college education without professional interests, who become majors in our department.

About 1930 there was a great increase in the number of majors entering professional work, especially in the field of social work, for which the study of sociology serves as a preparation. In 1931 twelve majors in sociology were graduated. All of these continued their studies in universities. All have worked in social agencies, such as family case agencies and psychiatric clinics. One of those is now a county superintendent of public welfare; another is in the State Department of Public Welfare, and two have taught in colleges.

Beginning about 1938 there was a considerable increase in enrollment in the various courses offered by the department and in the number of majors. There are now about 580 students in all classes in the Sociology Department, each semester, and nearly 100 majors.

Since 1938, 172 majors in Sociology have been graduated. Of the 105 who were graduated from 1938 to 1942, seventy continued their studies in graduate schools—an unusually high percentage for college graduates. During the war years, due to the great demand for social workers in Red Cross and other social work fields, only nine continued their training, whereas sixty entered positions directly. At least twelve of the recent graduates were in war services.

DR. LYDA GORDON SHIVERS
Associate Professor of Sociology

An incomplete summary of positions held by recent graduates may indicate types of opportunities for our students. Among them are recreational social workers, settlement house workers, child welfare workers, Y.W.C.A. secretaries, Girl Reserve workers, Girl Scout executives. One or more former students of recent years are engaged in each of the following—journalism, business personnel work, library work, housing bureaus, industrial work, research, psychiatric social work. A considerable number have positions with county departments of public welfare and with the Red Cross. The largest proportion are in case work. Out of approximately one hundred, thirty-two are case workers. Ten are in group work, five are teachers, six are in business establishments, five are in medical social work.

The Sociology Department offers twenty semester courses, described in detail in the College Catalogue. These fall roughly into three groups. One group is composed of subjects considered to be basic or theoretical. These are Introduction to Sociology, Principles of Sociology, Social Psychology, Cultural Anthropology, and Sociological Theory. In the second group, the more specialized courses are found, such as Social Problems, Rural Social Problems, Interracial Relations, Criminology, Southern Regions, The Family, Marriage, and The Community. In the third group, subjects are brought together which are still more specialized, or pre-professional—Introduction to the Field of Social Work, Social Problems of Child Welfare, and Methods of Social Research.

Other departments offer courses which our students find to be valuable from the point of view of higher general education or in relation to future application professionally. The Departments of Psychology, Economics, History, Physical Education, Health, and Education are among these.

In this atomic age when international, state, and community relationships are in flux and in desperate need of adjustments, an intelligent, educated, and interested citizenship is necessary for social planning and worthy social action. One who acquires significant knowledge and at the same time learns to understand himself and to place himself above—rather than to remain within—the domain of his own beliefs and ideals, may be considered an educated person. Sociology and the other social sciences contribute to this understanding and objective. Democracy today needs socially informed people as participants in social life. The ubiquitous presence of our former sociology students in welfare organizations throughout the state and in such gatherings as those of the North Carolina Conference for Social Welfare, indicates the sustained interest and active participation of our students in the social life of the community.

MEREB E. MOOSMAN
Associate Professor of Sociology

JULIUS ISAAC FOUST

In the early morning of a new day — at three o'clock a.m., Friday, February 15, 1946, Dr. Foust fell on sleep eternal. His death occurred in the hospital at Lakeland, Florida, where he had been seriously ill for about a week, following an operation. At the time, his granddaughter, Sarah Power Armstrong Landry '45, and her husband, Patrick Landry, of Greensboro, were on a visit to Dr. and Mrs. Foust in Lakeland, where they were spending the winter months.

Although Dr. Foust had been in ill health for several years, the news of his passing was nevertheless a shock, and it brought grief to countless numbers of alumnae and friends. He was 80 years old on his last birthday, having been born on November 23, 1865, in Graham. He had served this college continuously from February, 1902, until his retirement the first of July, 1934.

A simple but impressive funeral service was held at twelve o'clock on Monday morning, February 18, in Alumnae House, where his body had lain in state for an hour and a half previous. Over the casket, which stood in front of the south fireplace in the reception hall, lay a blanket of red roses — his favorite flower — and gardenias. Tall wall stands, filled with flowers of many colors, formed a background. On either side, a member of the faculty remained on guard. For the service the hall was filled with members of the faculty, representatives of the University at Chapel Hill, alumnae, students, and friends.

At the appointed hour, the reverent stillness of the room was broken by the voice of the minister, Dr. John A. Redhead, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Greensboro, of which Dr. Foust was a member, as he lifted our hearts to that Source from which all help and comfort comes. Dr. Redhead also followed with the reading of the Scripture given here:

FROM PSALM XLVI

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.
Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea:
Though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof.
The Lord of hosts is with us: the God of Jacob is our refuge.

PSALM CXXI

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills: from whence shall my help come?
My help cometh from the Lord, who made heaven and earth.
He will not suffer thy foot to be moved: he that keepeth thee will not slumber.
Behold, he that keepeth Israel will neither slumber nor sleep.
The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand.
The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night.
The Lord will preserve thee from all evil: he will preserve thy soul.
The Lord will preserve thy going out and thy coming in, from this time forth, and even for evermore.

PSALM XXIII

The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil: my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

ROMANS VIII

As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: if it children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ: if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together.

1 CORINTHIANS

Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

1 THESSALONIANS

But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.

REVELATION XXI

And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes: and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.

And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him: And they shall see his face: and his name shall be in their foreheads. And there shall be no night there: and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever.

JOHN XIV

Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you, I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself: that where I am, there ye may be also.

Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.

Again the minister led us in the prayer of faith which follows:

Lord, thou has been our dwelling place in all generations: before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth or the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God, in him will I trust. We thank thee, O Lord, that down through the years thou hast been the refuge and strength of thy people: and we pray that now, in this our time of need, thou wilt become for us a very present help.

We thank thee that though we sorrow, we sorrow not as those who have no hope. We praise thee for him who is our hope, even Jesus Christ our Lord; who lived and loved and taught and suffered and died for us; and who could not be holden of death, but who rose from the grave and ascended unto heaven and sitteth at the right hand of God the father, and who even now is touched with a feeling of our infirmities. We praise thee for his promise; because I live, ye shall live also.

O God, we thank thee that in bringing life and immortality to light our Saviour has redeemed us from a fear of the future: and in turning sunset into sunrise, has taken from death its sting and from the grave its victory. Increase within us, we beseech thee, that faith which believes that the life that is linked with thee never comes to an end: that what we call death is but a door which leads not out of life but into life, where it is lived forever in the presence of our father in heaven.

We remember the words of our Lord, I am the resurrection and the life; and we thank thee that there is a kind of life, a quality of being, with which death has nothing to do; and for all of the life of Christ which dwelt in the character of our friend.

We bless thee for all evidences of thy goodness: for the brightness of this morning's sunshine, for the beauty of these flowers, for the loveliness of the songs to which we have listened, and for these many friends gathered here.

But especially do we bless thee for the gift of such a life as that which we honor this morning. We praise thee for all in his home which went to make him what he was; for the touch of his gracious hand upon so many lives; for the wide range of his service to his city, to his state, and to his nation; for the magnitude of his humility and the greatness of his gentleness; for the stimulus of his example and the inspiration of his humility. And give us grace, we beseech thee, to walk in his steps as he walked in the steps of his Master.

Sustain us all, we pray, with the assurance that neither life nor death, nor angels nor principalities nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen.

A quartet from the choir of the First Presbyterian Church sang at intervals three of Dr. Foust's favorite hymns—"How Firm a Foundation," "Abide with Me," and "Rock of Ages." The family heard the service from the library of Alumnae House.

Gently the body was borne down the steps of the house of the alumnae, whom he loved, between a guard of honor, composed of student leaders, and was carried from Alumnae House to Green Hill Cemetery. Alumnae served as flower bearers.

The ALUMNAE NEWS will not attempt at this time to review the services of Dr. Foust to this college, to the state, or to the times in which he lived. The July, 1934, number carried this story in some detail, and an additional tribute will appear later.

It should perhaps be written now, however, because these things are much in the thoughts of many people, that the great purpose of his life was — education. He exerted all of his power and devoted all of his abilities to making this college, as an instrument of education, a great institution, which would adequately serve the needs of the great and growing state to which it preeminently belongs. To this end, he battled unceasingly, without thought of fear or favor. As is well known, the battle was along two fronts — one related to the other: to secure from the State of North Carolina, and from other sources, appropriations and funds with which to provide here an adequate physical plant and to attract a faculty of distinction; to raise the standard of the curriculum and of the life on the campus to such eminence that this college could rightfully take its place among leading educational institutions. That he lived to see this dream in large degree fulfilled is well recognized. He also envisioned this college as a part of the educational system of North Carolina; and to the public schools, and to his alma mater, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, he gave unstinted support.

He will be no less remembered by those who knew him closely for his qualities of personal character. In time of sorrow, his was the kindly hand of a friend and comrade. In time of difficulty and need, he interposed himself in rescue. Yet no man countenanced less the slipshod or dishonest. Indeed there was something elemental about him, in his straightforward integrity, his humility, and sense of personal responsibility. In matters of weight, he was deliberate in decision; but when once a decision was made, he was seldom moved. In the administrative offices, he was sometimes referred to as "Lincoln," because the two men were essentially so much alike; more often, as the "Rock of Gibraltar," for that he was. "Faith, determination, courage"—words often upon his lips, seemed indeed the watchwords of his life.

As has been indicated, Dr. Foust received the Ph. B. degree — his undergraduate degree — from the University of North Carolina in 1890. The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by the University in 1910. As has been said also, he came to this college in February, 1902, brought here by President McIver from the superintendency of the Goldsboro city schools, to be head of the Department of Pedagogy and of the Practice School. In 1904, he was made Dean of the College. Upon the sudden death of Dr. McIver in September, 1906, the Board of Trustees of the College made Dean Foust acting president. At the close of the college year, the Board elected

THE FAMILY TREE

There are 191 "granddaughters" in the student body this year — that is, young women whose mothers were students here before them.

43 SENIORS

Evelyn Hope Bailey, Burnsville	Zula (Ray) Bailey, class of '22
Caroline (Bell) Lewis, Winston-Salem	Carrie Irene (Twine) Bell, class of '14
Emily Bower, Lexington	Louise (Hill) Bower, class of '07
Elizabeth Clement, Greensboro	Margaret (Crawford) Clement '19
Ann Daniel Cloyd, Raleigh	Bertha (Daniel) Cloyd '11
Laura Gene Cochrane, Lincolnton	Agnes Mae (Dellinger) Cochrane, class of '21
Susan Speight Darden, Wilson	Esther (Yelverton) Darden, class of '14
Elinor Cole Davis, Salisbury	Claytie (Cole) Davis, class of '25
Nancy (Dobbins) Haigwood, Yadkinville	Beulah (Logan) Dobbins '18
Diana Doggett, Greensboro	Ann (Blevins) Doggett, Com. '19
Nancy Barksdale Edmunds, Lynchburg, Va.	Isabel (Bouldin) Edmunds '17
Elizabeth Agnes Evans, St. Pauls	Alfreda (Pittard) Evans, class of '14
Mary Louise Fink, Salisbury	Annie (Graeter) Fink, class of '17
Laura Belle Foster, Norlina	Minnie (Rodwell) Foster '21
Betty Martin Gaines, Tarboro	Claribel (Fountain) Gaines, Com. '22
Mary Jane Gray, Guilford College	Eula (Hodgin) Gray, class of '05
Margaret Perry Griffin, Edenton	Belle (Walters) Griffin '15
Marietta Hamrick, Shelby	Marietta (Moore) Hamrick, class of '09
Elizabeth Smith Holland, Gastonia	Ruby Elizabeth (Smith) Holland, class of '22
Marian Kirkman	Cora (John) Kirkman '14 (deceased)
Mary Kirkman	Cora (John) Kirkman '14 (deceased)
Frances Hinton Kittrell, Greenville	Elizabeth (Hinton) Kittrell '19
Martha Sink Koontz, Greensboro	Corday (Olive) Koontz, class of '06
Mary Martin Lindsay, Greensboro	Lucille (Parker) Lindsay, class of '08
Jane Jessup Linville, Kernersville	Lola (Jessup) Linville, class of '23
Dorothy Thurston Mizelle, Raleigh	Jessie (Thurston) Spencer, class of '24
Sally Dixon Moseley, Kinston	Sally Elizabeth (Parrott) Moseley, Com. '08
Betty Anne Ragland, Salisbury	Bessie (Wright) Ragland '15
Ann Reynolds Richardson, Reidsville	Mary (Benbow) Richardson '06
Laura Frances Richardson, Jacksonville	Louise Johnson (West) Richardson, class of '20
Mary Catherine Rowe, Aberdeen	Gladys (Loftin) Rowe, class of '20
Catherine Fewell Sanders, Clover, S. C.	Florence (Mitchell) Sanders '13
Sarah Price Secret	Mary (Gordon) Secret '18 (deceased)
Becky Smith, Reidsville	Nettie (Dixon) Smith '09
Angela DeForest Snell, Richmond, Va.	Louise (Howell) Snell '17
Dorothy Harris Spruill, Lexington	Flossie (Harris) Spruill '17
Cora Harden Stratford, Graham	Loren (Kernode) Stratford '16
Carol Montgomery Street, Winston-Salem	Julia (Montgomery) Street '23
Jane Thomason, Roanoke Rapids	Lena Elizabeth (Thomas) Thomason, class of '10
Margaret McIver Wallace, Carthage	Margaret (McIver) Wallace '18
Mary Tuttle Whisnant, Elizabethton, Tenn.	Emeline Boone (Goforth) Whisnant '22
Eleanor Lane White, Greensboro	Lillian (Barnes) White '39
Christine Tatum Zachary, Taylorsville	Christine (Tatum) Zachary, class of '17

46 JUNIORS

Julia Alexander, Asheboro	Annie (Moring) Alexander '10
Prudence Alexander, Statesville	Margaret (Willis) Alexander '15
Elizabeth Applewhite	Elizabeth (LeGwin) Applewhite '07 (dec.)
Jeanne Barber, Goldston	Grace (Goldston) Barber, class of '16
Anne Bailey Blank, Greenville	Bertha (McCullom) Blank, class of '26
Patricia Boren, Gastonia	'Pat' Sarah (Jones) Roberts, class of '19

him president. The Act to Consolidate the now three units of the University of North Carolina was passed by the General Assembly in 1931. When the consolidation became effective in the fall of 1932, the title of the chief administrative officers of the three divisions of the University became that of vice president. Dr. Foust retired July 1, 1934, becoming President Emeritus.

To his wife, Clora McNeill Foust, who shared his life with complete devotion during the last fourteen years; to his son, Henry Price Foust; to his granddaughter, Sarah Power Landry, and to all those who were nearest to him and knew him best — may their sense of grief and loss be comforted by a contemplation of the great life he lived and the great service he rendered to his fellowmen.

Dr. Alex Mathews Arnett

With the passing of Dr. Alex Mathews Arnett on August 7, 1945, the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina and the State suffered the loss of a distinguished scholar and citizen.

Dr. Arnett took his Bachelor of Arts degree from Mercer University in his native state of Georgia, and for four years taught English in high schools there, after which he entered Columbia University for graduate study in history. From that institution he received the degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy, the latter in 1922. Before coming to the Woman's College he had taught at Shorter College, Furman University, and at Columbia University for five years.

As a scholar Dr. Arnett ranks high. His interests were diverse, and whether he wrote for children or for scholars, he was learned but never dull. His doctoral dissertation, The Populist Movement in Georgia, did not lie buried in the files of his university library; rather it was an important addition to knowledge which became a model and a challenge to the generation of writers that followed. Widely read and keenly interested in his two special fields, Modern European and North Carolina history, he wrote extensively in the latter as well as in the related fields of Recent American and General Southern History. His excellent text, The Story of North Carolina, planned in collaboration with Dr. W. C. Jackson, and illustrated by its own photographs and sketches, has been and still is widely used in the schools of North Carolina; and his Claude Kitchin and the Wilson War Policies aroused great interest among scholars in this country and abroad because of the new materials therein presented. The discussion which followed the publication of the latter added greatly to the prestige of the Woman's College. The South Looks at Its Past, written jointly with Dr. B. B. Kendrick, is an authoritative and at the same time pleasingly succinct statement of the problems of the region. In addition to these and other books, he was almost constantly at work on papers for historical societies, from the State Literary and Historical Association to the American Historical Association, and on critical reviews and articles for scholarly magazines.

Not only was Dr. Arnett a truly distinguished scholar in his own field of history, but in addition he had that broad culture which comes from long acquaintance with and love of the fine arts. Deeply interested and well read in English and American literature, he also followed enthusiastically as a hobby the writing of fiction. He knew and loved music and art, gaining deep satisfaction from both, and giving pleasure by his ventures in painting.

From Dr. Arnett's students who are now mature and active citizens comes tribute to the objectivity, balanced judgment, and keen analysis and interpretation which characterized his teaching. Moreover, his alertness to the problems of the "ill-fed, ill-clothed, and ill-housed" was so great, and his warm sympathy so sincere that students who came under his influence left it fully alive to their responsibilities as citizens. His clear and realistic thinking was for many years of great value to his colleagues of the Department of History and Political Science; and his sincere tolerance, quick but always kind humor, and ever-present courtesy gave his judgments weight with the general faculty as well.

Through work on a wide variety of faculty committees Dr. Arnett also served the college community. He had great interest in the Library Committee, of which he was the able chairman for fourteen years; he was until his death the chairman of the Committee on Interdepartmental Majors; and, during the past four years he had, as chairman of the Radio Committee, done much toward organizing the excellent radio programs sponsored by the College.

Not only did Dr. Arnett give much time to academic committees but he gave generously of his abilities to his city as well. From 1932 until his death he was a member of the Greensboro Public Library Board, holding the difficult position of Acting Chairman during the war emergency. It is here that a special tribute should be paid to his never-relaxing efforts. Himself a lover of good books, he felt that others should have an equal opportunity to enjoy them. His ability to interpret policy, his tenacious though always gentle support of right, his vision of future needs, especially apparent during the months spent on plans for a new library building, endeared him to librarians and citizens alike.

Loyalty, true friendliness, scholarship, genuine culture and social-mindedness—these and many other fine attributes Dr. Arnett leaves as a heritage to Woman's College. For this heritage we are grateful as we pay this word of tribute.

Faculty Committee on Resolutions,
GLENN R. JOHNSON
ELIZABETH SAMPSON
VERA LARGENT, Chairman.

Sue Alice Bruton, Candor	Evelyn (Burt) Bruton, class of '24
Sarah F. Campbell, Washington	Sarah (Archbell) Campbell, Com. '22
Marian Covington, Charlotte	Lillian (Davis) Covington '23
Dorothy D. Deal, Charlotte	Florence (Miller) Deal '20
Catherine (Deck) Benson, Pelham, N. Y.	Mary (Stearns) Deck '21
Betty Brown Denny, Raleigh	Bessie B. (Brown) Denny '18
Cornelia Draughon, Whitakers	Sarah (White) Draughon, class of '23
Kathryn Ferguson, Weaverville	Evangeline (Brown) Ferguson, class of '18
Evelyn Elizabeth Glenn, Greenville	Evelyn (Hodges) Glenn '21
Florence Virginia Glenn, Henderson	Malissa (Hicks) Glenn, class of '22
Nella Harris, Statesville	Lela (Stevenson) Harris, class of '18
Juanita Henry, Salisbury	Juanita (Kesler) Henry '20
Arta Pearl Hiatt, High Point	Stella (Anderson) Hiatt, Com. '20
Jane C. Irvin, Charlotte	Mary (Gaston) Irvin, Com. '19
Mary Gaston Irvin, Charlotte	Mary (Gaston) Irvin, Com. '19
Mary Betty Leigh, Greensboro	Nancy (Marsh) Leigh, class of '19
Dacia Lewis, Greensboro	Daphne (Waters) Lewis, class of '21
Susan McFadyen	Cleta (Routh) McFayden, class of '29 (deceased)
Julia McLean, Winston-Salem	Nell (Miller) McLean, class of '19
Betty Jean Matthews, Pilot Mountain	Hessie (Johnston) Matthews, class of '21
Nancy Elma Newton, Shelby	Elma (Gaffney) Newton, Com. '20
Suzanne Norman, Greensboro	Janet (McNelly) Norman, class of '11
Julia Parham, Oxford	Helen (Hunt) Parham '15
Betty Jean Pickett, Greensboro	Ruth (Wilson) Pickett, Com. '19
Ruth Poore, Mount Airy	Edith (Cockerham) Poore, class of '21
Martha Dell Purvis, Salisbury	Belle (Hicks) Purvis '10
Dorothy Reynolds, Raleigh	Mabel (Howell) Reynolds '07
Martha K. Sandlin, Bryson City	Hazel (Fry) Sandlin '25
Elizabeth Saville, Lexington, Va.	Priscilla (Dodson) Saville, class of '17
Sarah Robertson Stewart, Fayetteville	Fan (Robertson) Stewart '14
Frances Stockard, Greensboro	Leone (Blanchard) Stockard '18
Elizabeth Sutton	Maude (Minish) Sutton, class of '15 (deceased)
Nancy Sutton	Maude (Minish) Sutton, class of '15 (deceased)
Hilman Thomas, Raleigh	Blanche (Whitmore) Thomas, class of '14
Marguerite Thompson, Raleigh	Lily (Ball) Thompson, class of '11
Betty Ruth Tomlinson, Wilson	Gertrude (Parker) Tomlinson, class of '13
Jane Tyson, Carthage	Ruth (Harris) Tyson '15
Kathryn Waynick, Greensboro	Mary (Holden) Waynick, class of '16
Hope Willard, Salisbury	Blanche (Jenkins) Willard, Com. '17
Jessie Mosely Wooten, Asheville	Hortense (Mosely) Wooten '21

46 SOPHOMORES

Katherine Murray Arrowood	Mary D. (Murray) Arrowood, class of '20 (dec.)
Frances Donnell Ashcraft, Wadesboro	Fannie Sue (Donnell) Ashcraft, class of '21
Betsy Bennett Barnes, Wilson	Bessie (Bennett) Barnes '11
Doris Ruth Batchelor, Nashville	Bessie (Ward) Batchelor, class of '06
Beverly Frances Bell, Greensboro	Frances (Watson) Bell '23
Katharine Collins Bennett, Chapel Hill	Minnie (Queen) Bennett, Com. '19
Mary Strudwick Berry, Greensboro	Mary (Strudwick) Berry '07
Mary Alice Blue, Carthage	Mary (Rankin) Blue, class of '07
Laurena Park Booker, Greensboro	Nina (Park) Booker, class of '28 and '38
Betsy Ann Bullock, Rocky Mount	Josephine (Jenkins) Bullock '23
Barbara Ruth Clegg, Greensboro	Ruth (Thompson) Clegg, Com. '25
Marjorie Elaine Coble, Burlington	Myrtle (Nicholson) Coble, class of '13
Margaret Jane Cole, Salisbury	Annie (Martin) Cole '10
Virginia Annette Congleton, Stokes	Lillian (Stokes) Congleton, class of '12
Helen Alice DeVault, Charlotte	Grace (Freeman) DeVault, Com. '21
Anne Scott Dellinger, Ivanhoe	Caroline (Robinson) Dellinger '16
Nettie Keller Dixon, Dalton, Ga.	Nettie (Keller) Dixon, class of '26
Florence Allen Draper, Weldon	Florence A. (Hart) Draper, class of '12
Frances Ferguson, Kannapolis	Eva (Sechler) Ferguson, Com. '19
Jean Rebecca Ferguson, Martinsville, Va.	Jeanie (Payne) Ferguson, Com. '15
Sue Fran Gaines, Tarboro	Claribel (Fountain) Gaines, Com. '22
Jeanne Roslyn Harris, Jacksonville, Fla.	Freda (Lazarus) Harris, class of '26
Thettis Elizabeth Hoffner, Greensboro	Thettis (Smith) Hoffner '25
Ada Virginia Hopkins, Plymouth	Magnolia (Robertson) Hopkins, class of '17
Sallie Loftin Hudson, Waxhaw	Hilda (Loftin) Hudson '19
Helen Dunn Hunter, Charlotte	Helen (Creasy) Hunter '22
An Hoover Johnson, Burgaw	Edith (Hoover) Johnson '25
Katherine Elizabeth Jones, Lenoir	Mamie (Snow) Jones, class of '18
Elizabeth Kittrell, Greenville	Elizabeth (Hinton) Kittrell '19
Martha Ann Klutitz, High Point	Annie Laurie (Farrell) Klutitz, Com. '19
Katharine McRae Malloy, Laurinburg	Nan (McArn) Malloy, class of '10
Susanne Williams Park, Raleigh	Frances (Williams) Park '24
Carolyn Pleasants, Greensboro	Bess (Townsend) Pleasants, class of '09

Harriett Gaison Riley, Goldsboro
 Nancy Morton Romefelt, Glen Rock, N.J.
 Gladys Elizabeth Rowland, Kirtrell
 Miriam Tate Scott, Mebane
 Ann Jeanette Shaffer, Wilmington
 Mary Ellis Shuler, Rocky Mount
 Nancy Norman Souther, Greensboro
 Frances Kissell Suggs, Gastonia
 Marietta Thompson, High Point
 Fannie Kate Ward, La Grange
 Jean Choate Whitenet, Newton
 Nell Williams, Monroe
 Susan Ann Womack, Reidsville

54 FRESHMEN

Sarah Long Allison, Greensboro
 Amerylis Virginia Barringer, Durham
 Emma Louise Bridger, Bladenboro
 Cleo King Cannady, Greensboro
 Dorothy Evelyn Carter, Morganton
 Elizabeth Anne Coble, Burlington
 Ann Crowell, Lexington
 Sarah Catherine Denny, Raleigh
 Mary Lou Donnell, Goldsboro
 Margaret Dumas, Goldsboro
 Barbara Lee Duval, Waxhaw
 Martha Trundle Egerton, Washington,
 D.C.
 Mary Louise Eichhorn, Greensboro
 Nancy Beam Funderburk, Greensboro
 Ruth Goodwin Gill, Raleigh
 Lois Glass
 Elizabeth Irene Graves, Mebane
 Mary Walters Griffin, Edenton
 Dorothy Jean Hand, Gatesville
 Marilyn Handley, Goldsboro
 Jean Bryan Hilton, Greenville
 Adele Holman, Lexington
 Frances Hussey, Greensboro
 Sally Anderson Irvin, Charlotte
 Ethel Celeste Johnston, Pittsboro
 Ethel Kesler, Winston-Salem
 Anna Kirkman, Pleasant Garden
 Mary Ellen Knight, Greensboro
 Ruth McBrayer, Lattimore
 Rachel McCormick, Fayetteville
 Frances Carolyn Moore, Reidsville
 Harriet R. Moran, Raleigh
 Martha Virginia Nolin, Marlboro, N.Y.
 Nell Dean Owen, Asheboro
 Carolyn Gray Phillips, Greensboro
 Anne Elizabeth Raiford, Erwin
 Miriam Irene Reiley, Charlotte
 Barbara Jean Royal, Thomasville
 Dorothy Lee Sale, Hopewell, Va.
 Elizabeth Gray Sanders, Lumberton
 Ruth Irene Sellers, Charlotte
 Hazel Montague Sessions, Colerain
 Mary Louise Shields, Winston-Salem
 Frances McKellar Sinclair, West End
 Leila Gallman Stephens, Harrisburg
 Barbara Link Strelitz, Lexington
 Tommy Jean Tomlin, Olin
 Alice Elizabeth Townsend, Greensboro
 Julia Vernon, Winston-Salem
 Martha Wells, Greensboro
 Cornelia Anne White, Lenoir
 Mildred Holliday Williamson, Wadesboro
 Kathleen Wilson, Petersburg, Va.
 Elinor Woltz, Raleigh

Virginia (Kendall) Riley, class of '15
 Mary Parks (Grey) Romefelt '19
 Maude (Andrews) Rowland, class of '18
 Hazelene (Tate) Scott, Com. '23
 Lucile (Kaschagen) Shaffer '24
 Mary E. (White) Shuler '23
 Nelly (Schoolfield) Souther, Com. '21
 Sadie T. (Moyle) Suges '21
 Evelyn (Mendenhall) Thompson '24
 Mary (Taylor) Ward, class of '27
 Harriet (Choate) Whitenet, class of '20
 Kate (Redfern) Williams, class of '20
 Ruth (Winslow) Womack '21

1 COMMERCIALS

Anne Elizabeth Brandon, Roxboro
 Myrtle (Paylor) Brandon, class of '15

1 SPECIALS

Shirley Marshall Pruden, Greensboro
 Helen (Terree) Pruden, class of '23

Winfield Keyser Rogers

We record with sorrow the death of Winfield Heyser Rogers in New Orleans on September 28, 1945, before he could assume fully his new duties as University Professor and head of the combined English Departments of Tulane University — a bare month after he left Greensboro. His gifts were expended last in the service of this College, his influence will be felt longest here.

Winfield Rogers was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan, of a gentle family that had its part in the shaping of an American culture. In 1941, at the age of 39, he came to this College as professor and head of the English Department. The taste and judgment that were native had been sharpened by training, by world travel, and by experience in teaching and administration. He had been made doctor by Harvard University, after studies pursued there and at the University of Michigan and at King's College, Cambridge. He had taught English with increasing power at the University of Wisconsin, at Harvard, and at Adelbert and Cleveland College of Western Reserve University. At Cleveland College, as head of the Department of English and Comparative Literature and of the Division of Humanities, he had acquired skill as an administrator.

In his years here as in the years before, he did not allow even the heavy demands he laid upon himself in teaching and administering to dull his sense of obligation to add to the sum of knowledge. He published critical essays in College English and in the Publications of the Modern Language Association, while single papers appeared in Helicon, in the Western Reserve Studies, and in the Sewanee Review. He edited Louis Bromfield's novel, The Farm, and, in collaboration, two significant anthologies: An American Sketchbook and Explorations in Living, A Record of the Democratic Spirit. He was an editorial adviser for the journal, College English, from its first issue in 1939 to the time of his death. He was also, during the war period, a reader and critic for the editors of Studies in Philology. The range of his scholarly interest was large, but it was centered upon the English novel and more particularly upon the problem of the comic, and upon the person of Henry Fielding. In the fullness of his vigor and the copiousness of his mind, he planned and began much that he was not to complete. The most important were a critical volume on Fielding, three sections of which he presented at meetings of the Modern Language Association, and an edition of Fielding's works.

Not only was he active in scholarly pursuits himself, but by the catholicity of his interests and by the enthusiasm with which he responded to ideas, he fostered scholarly activity in others. The English Lectures, which were of his devising, provide an outlet for the activity he stimulated and turn scholarship to the immediate benefit of the students.

It was of the needs of students that he thought most, and they, with keen awareness, responded to his lively mind, to his deeply felt understanding of the importance of his subject and of their ideas. He was richly inventive, but the objectives and methods of his teaching were not improvisations. Under his leadership, there has been developing here an educational discipline expressing a critical approach that he had defined in two essays on the study and teaching of literature.

In these, he urged an avoidance of the dogmatic and formalized approach on the one side and of the impressionistic and appreciations on the other. Recognizing their necessity in all scholarship, he decried that drift in literary studies that makes accuracy and industry a virtue and an end. He called for boldness and originality, for healthy independence of critical judgment. Basic to his whole point of view, was the belief that the teacher and critic of literature must subject each document to renewed examination to determine its personal and its social relevancy.

He was convinced that literature and the other subjects of the curriculum are not disciplines to be pursued narrowly if an end of education be to produce integration of knowledge. In this belief, he advocated various kinds of inter-departmental co-operation in teaching; he attached importance to an Arts Forum and gave it direction. His perception of the social responsibility borne by the man of letters and by the teacher of literature, is made manifest by his role as a founder and early chairman of the group formed within the Modern Language Association to study the relations of literature and society, and by his vigorous leadership in the movement to improve English instruction in the public schools of North Carolina.

He had been at the Woman's College only a few weeks when he began to appear as speaker and counselor in meetings of the English teachers of the city, the district, the state. He exerted his leadership always towards a program of English instruction founded upon a closer articulation of the secondary schools and the colleges. He was an initiator in the founding of the Greensboro-Guilford Council of English Teachers and a continuing source of vitality. He was one of those who planned the English Institute at Chapel Hill, and he taught with great effect at the first and second institutes.

Visible through the multiplicity of these activities and interests, there is a pattern. In his relations with students here, with graduate students at Chapel Hill, with the English teachers of the state, with colleagues, and with his friends, he gave of himself to each with the same generosity, thoughtfulness, and graciousness: for to all he gave out of his apprehension of the dignity and of the specialty of each individual. In his approach to letters and to life, he was humane.

Faculty Committee on Resolutions
MARC FRIELAENDER
FRANCES LEDBETTER
MARY TAYLOR MOORE, Chairman

News from the Alumnae

1903

Nettie (Parker) Wirth is educational director of the First Vanguard Presbyterian Church, Raleigh—a position she has had for nearly a year.

1911

Rose (Batterham) Houskeeper writes that her son, a first lieutenant in the Army Air Forces, returned in safety from bombardiering in the Pacific Theatre. "Daughter Betty was recently married to a first lieutenant in the Army."

Edith (Latham) Settan is chairman of the membership committee of the North Carolina Bird Club. She is also one of the moving spirits in the bird club of Greensboro—an organization which is doing fine work in spreading information about bird life and protecting it.

1912

Bertha (Daniel) Cloyd's only son, Capt. E. L. Cloyd, Jr., came home from Japan, where he had been stationed in the vicinity of Tokyo, the last of November, after three years overseas service in the Infantry.

1913

Katherine (Robinson) Everett's son, an only child, Robinson, is a junior this year at Harvard. He spent the Christmas holidays at home in Durham, bringing his roommate with him.

1914

Iris (Holt) McEwen's son, Jim, is now the editor and general manager of the Twin-City Daily Times—a newspaper which serves Morehead City and Beaufort. He and Mr. P. T. Hines, manager of the Greensboro Daily News, have purchased the Twin-City Daily. Jim received his degree from Princeton University in 1944, with a major in English—graduating with high honors. He served with the American Field Service, with the French Army, for about a year before receiving his discharge.

Emma Lossen is teaching art in the New Hanover High School, Wilmington. "Although I feel I am not doing so much with art myself, I do have some very gifted students. They are now making interesting things such as bookplates and posters, and soon they will be doing scenery for the operetta that is to be given this spring."

Eleanor (Morgan) Phipps writes from Urbana, Ill. "After a year and a half in Chicago, the Phipps family is very glad to be at home again at the University of Illinois. In Chicago, my husband was one of the physical chemists who worked on the Manhattan Project—thrilling and terrifying adventure that it was. After all that, home is wonderful."

Rochelle (Pippin) Strowd is living now in Henderson, having moved there last summer, following the transfer of her husband from the principalship of the school at Louisburg.

1915

Alice (Sawyer) Cooper is living in Taylorsville. She spent a day on the campus in January.

1916

Genevieve Moore is supervisor of public school music at Trinity. "The shift from grade work to music was very easily made—I was surprised really to find how quickly I could adapt myself to the change. This school has a large number of fine teachers with whom it is a pleasure to work."

Mary (Powell) Brantley is completing her 23rd year as a teacher of the social studies in the Raleigh public schools. "I teach journalism also, and have charge of the school publicity at Hugh Morson High School. I have been girls' adviser there for nine years. Many of my students go to Woman's College."

1917

Juanita (McDougald) Melchior writes interestingly from Syracuse, N. Y., where she has been living for several years, and where her husband is a member of the faculty of Syracuse University. "Just now I am reveling in the promise of a world at peace. However, my revels are also full of activity in behalf of helping to resettle many of those who have been 'war migrants' in one way or another, these past three or four years. I find myself serving on two committees for housing—one for helping to meet the emergency needs of the returning G.I.'s, and the other a part of the New York State Post-War Planning Committee. As state chairman of international relations for the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, I try to keep abreast of developments in the international area. I do a limited amount of consulting on educational problems, and I also take housekeeping very seriously. I enjoy the many privileges afforded in this interesting and beautiful section of America. The housing shortage, as indicated, has been serious. My husband and I opened our home to some of our new faculty appointees. But the peak of our service was reached when we had 13 people living under our roof—one family of two, two families of four, and three young men! They all cooked, ate, and laundred—all according to schedule! They call themselves 'Melchior alumni,' and are planning a reunion as soon as the Melchiors have time." The University is planning to set up a trailer camp in the near future, and this provision should help. I thoroughly enjoyed seeing a number of North Carolina friends in New York City last fall, who were attending the sessions of the Herald-Tribune Forum, as I was. The ALUMNAE NEWS always brings an hour of pleasure."

Anne (Daniel) Boyd writes joyfully from Salisbury that her son, a pilot on a B-24, is home from overseas—"out for good." He is now a student at State College, taking work in textiles. We are so happy about him. Our oldest daughter lives in Charlotte. She has two precious children—a boy and a girl, and so you see I am a grandmother twice. I still have two children at home—Fred, senior in high school, and Ann, high school freshman. Fred is planning to go to McCallie School in Chattanooga, Tenn., next year, and so Ann Sr. and Ann Jr. will be holding the homefront all by themselves."

Alice Vaiden, known to her college friends as Alice Vaiden Williams, writes from New York City. "I am having a happy and busy life doing music in a special school for crippled children in Newark, N. J. I commute daily, with my lunch in a brown bag. Try it some day, when you have a spare three hours! I still long to get back to my beloved North Carolina. Best wishes to you all."

1919

Anne Banks Cridlebaugh is now reference librarian at the New Jersey State Teachers College, Montclair. It was a pleasure to see her at the alumnae dinner in New York City, on February 13.

Amy (Overton) Mayo writes from Carpinteria, Calif. "Louis came home on terminal leave the last of October after having been at sea for eight months. He was ship's chaplain on a troop transport. They crossed the Pacific four times and the Atlantic six times. They were in Italy, France, Central and South America, the Philippines, and other islands in the Pacific. After seeing the destruction, starvation, and low morals in many places—especially in Italy and France, they were more convinced than ever that there is no place like the U. S. A. Louis Jr. is 17 and over six feet tall. He will graduate from the twelfth grade this year. He is more and more interested in radio, and hopes to get his amateur's license soon. Daughter Eloise is now in the ninth grade, and is an inch taller than her mother. She enjoys school—English is her favorite subject. She reads about 75 books a year—makes a list of them all and writes her opinion of each book. She is also studying music—has an excellent piano teacher, who studied in Europe, and Eloise is doing well with it. This past year I have gardened, canned, and done many extra things like that, and enjoyed them all. We like California and plan to stay on here for a while. There are few traces of winter in the fall—even in the middle of December. Orange, lemon, and avocado trees are loaded with fruit. Many flowers are blooming, and poinsettias are seen everywhere, three to ten feet high. Shrubs with berries, all heights and sizes, are beautiful to see. The mountain sides are green—greener since the rains came. Soon however we shall see snow-capped peaks in the distance—beautiful beyond description. Really, the climate and scen-

Alma Rightsell Pinnix '19

President and General Manager of Pinnix Realty Company, Successor to Hugh Pinnix, Specialist in the Sale of Mill Villages

Alma Rightsell Pinnix, Greensboro, went to Georgia early last October to take charge of the sale of 2000 houses for Callaway Mills—a project including ten villages—eight in La Grange, one at Manchester, and one at Milstead. Shortly before Christmas she wrote that her company had already sold 900 of these houses and expected to dispose of several hundred more within the next few weeks. "I have had complete charge of the sale, appraising the property and setting up each sale individually—carrying them all through to completion. It has been hard steady work all the time, but I have fine people to work with, and so have really enjoyed the experience. La Grange, where my first work was done, is super, as they say! It boasts a half million dollar auditorium, erected four years ago, with all modern ery, as well as the friendliness of the people here, make a combination not easily duplicated."

1920

Terrene Holleman is home supervisor for the Chatham County Federal Security Administration. During the last year 30 demonstrations were given in that county on food conservation and preparation, and on clothing and furniture repairing.

equipment, and every known device, it seems, in the way of lighting, staging, convertible floor space, and accommodates almost any type of entertainment—banquet, opera, dances, and even dog shows! An Atlanta architect did a beautiful job of landscaping the grounds, with the parking space perfectly terraced, so that it melts into the surroundings. There is also a well-placed stadium here, with excellent sports direction.

"Manchester is only four miles from Warm Springs, and so one day when in Manchester, I rode over with friends to see the 'Little White House.' The place looked deserted of course, but it is charming.

"Milstead is near Atlanta. Milstead is only a mill village, with no town or town attractions. But all three of these places have well-designed and well-furnished community houses, and good schools. A new school program, however, calls for a larger and better equipped school system, and a library. You see these are not the average mill villages.

"A good many people have asked me about my future plans. I have a force of six people assisting me here; I like the work; and so I am planning to carry on. My present contract with the Company for which I am selling this property—really the Calloway Community Foundation—calls for the sale of these 2000 houses at a figure around $4,000,000. As you may know, my husband organized this work ten years ago. He was the only specialist in the sale of mill villages in the South. He carried on his business under the trade name of Hugh Pinnix, Specialist in the Sale of Mill Villages. After his death, I took over, but I now work under the name of Pinnix Realty Company. I am president and general manager. I have found that big business will deal with a woman if she is capable, and the company here has given me every encouragement to believe that I can qualify in this field."

1921

Hortense (Moseley) Wooten's daughter, Jessie, is a junior at Woman's College.

1922

Branson Price is an industrial economist with the Department of Labor, New York City. She lives at 55 Barrow Street. Branson was connected with the National Mediation Board in Washington City for a number of years, before going to her present post. Sometime along the way, she went to South America for a year, "stepping around," on a long vacation. In her present work, she is a specialist in the home work division—supervising people who take jobs home to do—flower-making, for instance. There is a great deal of this type of work being done, and the Government has to keep some kind of regulation on the hours worked and the wages paid. For two years she was an inspector for the wage-hour division in the Department of Labor, state of Texas.

Mildred (Price) Coy also lives in New York City, at 420 West 118th Street. She is executive secretary of the China Aid Council, one of the constituent organizations of the United China Relief. They collect money with which to send supplies to China—primarily to the war orphans in China, in the orphanage sponsored by Mme. Sun-Yat-Sen and Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek. She has been with this organization about six years. Her husband is director of publicity for a group of associated hospitals, with headquarters in New York City. They have no children. Mildred did graduate work at the University of Chicago, and has an M. A. degree.

Mary York, family life coordinator in the Greensboro public schools, spoke to the Railway Mail Auxiliary at a meeting last fall. She stressed the need of love, acceptance, achievement, clear conscience, freedom from fear, adequate standards of living, and social outlook as among the basic necessities in a successful home life.

1923

Mary T. (Peacock) Douglas, school library adviser for the State Department of Public Instruction, is the author of an article, "United Through Books," published in the October number of the North Carolina Parent-Teacher Bulletin. The article was written in connection with the celebration of Book Week, November 11-17. Mary Teresa is chairman of the P.-T. A. committee on reading and library service. She also served as chairman of the committee which prepared the bulletin, "School Libraries for Today and Tomorrow, Functions and Standards," recently published by the committee on post-war planning of the American Library Association and the American Association of School Libraries. It is a 43-page booklet, and may be secured from the American Library Association, Chicago, Ill.

Susie (West) Mendenhall writes that she has just returned from a motor trip to California with her husband and son, "where we spent Christmas, and attended the Rose Bowl game and Tournament of Roses. I saw quite a number of college and university campuses on this trip, but none of them appealed to me like that of alma mater!" Susie lives in Athens, Ga.

1924

Born to Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Blauch (Mary Brannock), a son, James Lloyd, a first child, February 12, Columbia Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Margaret (Blakeney) Blair has visited schools all over North Carolina in her capacity as field secretary for the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers. She has also served as state chairman of the education division of the War Finance Committee since the beginning of the war. "We expect to continue this work in the schools in order to make a school savings program a permanent thing."

1925

Katherine Buie is teaching in Anthony, Fla.

All those who are fortunate to be on the Christmas card list of Maxine (Taylor) Fountain and her husband, Dr. A. M. Fountain, professor at State College, are probably thinking that the greeting for 1945 was the best yet in the series of original and attractive greetings. The two children, Marcia and Alvin Marcus, are the central theme, excellent photographs of unusually attractive poses by them being used for illustration. But the beautiful legend merits reprinting here: "With the coming of peace, with the return of our young men and the departure of our old ones, we are reminded again of those things which pass and of those things which constitute the firmament and the handwork. In the midst of this spirit, we wish for you the happiness that always comes at Christmastide." The large double width card, printed in heavy black, also carries a memorialization of Nick Fountain, 1863-1945—"His was a joy by whose contagion he lifted his fellow-men."

Elizabeth (Parrott) Sanders lives in Chicago, where she is still connected in an editorial capacity with Scott, Foresman and Co., publishers. Her husband travels for Bordens Products in a group of states, with Chicago as headquarters. They have two sons, Henry B.erryman Jr. ("Sandy") 4, and Jack Parrott, born last August. Elizabeth contributes articles to various professional magazines—such as the Journal of Education, official publication of the International Association for Childhood Education, Washington, D. C., and Parents Magazine.

Grace (Welch) Boyd's husband is librarian of Princeton University. In addition, he is now engaged in editing the writings of Thomas Jefferson, on behalf of the New York Times—a work eventually to be published in honor of the late publisher of the Times, Adolph Ochs. Dr. Boyd was in North Carolina last fall, as guest speaker at a meeting of the Friends of Duke University Library. He used as his subject, "But the Letter Dwelleth."

1926

French Boyd is now a nutritionist with the United States Public Health Service. Her work takes her into different states. French's mother writes that because she is going here and there it would be very difficult to keep her business address, so she is giving us her home address in Statesville for permanent use.

1927

Born to Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Walter (Minnie Ross), a son, David Ross, December 13, 1945, Whidbey Island, Wash.

Phoebe (Baughan) Barr is living now in Silver Spring, Md., where her husband is doing research in physics in a Government laboratory.

Lt. Daphne Doster was discharged from the Army Nurse Corps last September. "Since that time I have been taking life easy." The first of the year she entered the School of Public Health, University of Minnesota, for a year of graduate study, working toward an M. A. degree. "After three years in the tropics, I find the winter winds very hard to take, although I am glad to be home, in these good United States. I am always happy to receive my copy of the NEWS."

Carolina (Price) MacMillan lives in New York City. She has one daughter, Mary Chasten 3. Her husband is connected with Chase National Bank. He is an alumnus of Davidson College.

1928

Constance (Gwaltney) Huntsberry is living now at Ft. Bragg, where her husband is stationed with Headquarters of the 1st Army, G-4 Section.

Heidi Reinhardt is associated with the North Carolina Commission for the Blind, Raleigh.

LILLA BELL '34AB, Mooresville, joined the Red Cross in June, 1944. Followed two months of orientation in Washington, D. C., and then—England. For nearly a year Lilla was assistant field director for the Red Cross, and was located at an air base near Ipswich. Her duties here were chiefly hostess. Because of a fall received, she was sent back to the United States several months ago to recuperate, and spent some time visiting in Florida. She is now associated with the Red Cross in Danville, Va. While in England, Lilla was fortunate enough to be near her brother, a lieutenant commander in the Naval Medical Corps.

"Gibby" Satterfield is living in Atlanta, Ga. "My husband, Satt, came home on November 6, last, after 21 months overseas. We had a wonderful two months of terminal leave, with trips to West Virginia, Raleigh, and other places. The week before Christmas the whole family went to New York for a 'show binge,' and was that wonderful! The day after Christmas, the packers came in, and almost before we knew it, we were out of Washington, Atlanta-bound. We had a hard time finding a house—in fact, we lived in five different places before we got into one. But that is unimportant, since we are once more a reunited family."

1929

Ethel Butler is manager of the Woman's College Bookstore this year. She is doing one of those good jobs!

Mary Lilly (Cate) Ayres is living in Venezuela. "During the recent revolution here, we were glad that we no longer lived in Caracas, the capital of the country, as the casualties were high there. In our city, Maracaibo, there was comparatively little disturbance, although a few men were killed. Order was practically restored in three days, and the new government seems to be doing very well."

Virginia Jackson purchased the Cheek Letter Shop sometime last fall, and is now operating the establishment in the Southeastern Building. The shop does a multi-graphing, mimeographing, and public stenographic business in the city.

Era (Linker) Funderburke came to Greensboro around the first of the year to make her home. Her husband is in business there.

Mary Price is a secretary-treasurer for the Committee for North Carolina, an affiliate of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, Nashville, Tenn. Her office is in Greensboro. The Southern Conference is a membership organization of Southerners, who think that the people in the South had better do something about the social and economic problems which are native or indigenous to us—such as low wages, low standards of living, poor health records, lower educational standards, and others—the handicaps of Southern industry, for instance. Mary is enrolling people in the state, who are interested, as member of the North Carolina Committee. Mary lived for four years in Washington City, where she was assistant to Walter Lippman, famous columnist. She came to Greensboro from New York City, where for some time she had been on the staff of Business Week Magazine. "I am really delighted to be back home in North Carolina."

1930

Mabel (Holland) Wright has two fine children, as you may have seen for yourselves if you were lucky enough to be on her Christmas card list. The Wrights live in Washington City. Mabel comes back to Greensboro all along to visit her family and friends here.

Frances Johnson is teaching a second and third grade in the public schools, Hyattsville, Md.

Frank-Jo (Mann) Torpy had a leading part in a Red Cross play given on January 23, over a local Washington City station. She has also been awarded a certificate for meritorious service with the Red Cross during World War II.

Margaret (McConnell) Holt and her husband have returned to their home in Graham after many months in California, where he was stationed in the Navy.

1931

Born to Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Flinn (Selma Stegall), a son, Donald Nickerson, December 24, 1945, Monroe Hospital, Monroe.

Sallie Mooring is editor of the Bulletin, official publication of the North Carolina Dietetics Association, published quarterly. She is also president-elect of this organization. Sallie is chief dietitian at the State Hospital, Morganton.

1933

Mary (Brummitt) Donavant is home-making in Raleigh, having moved there sometime ago from Greensboro with her husband and son.

Julia (Watson) Maulden is the new vice president of the Girl Scout Council, Kannapolis.

1934

Katherine (Bonitz) Hunkin moved to Atlanta, Ga., the latter part of December. She left many friends in Greensboro, where she had lived for a number of years.

Elizabeth (Huntley) Prest is personnel adviser to civilian employees, Aeronautical Division, Navy Department, Washington, D. C. Her husband has been serving in the Army as a captain in the Civil Engineering Corps.

Caroline Martin was discharged from the Marine Corps last December, and is now cataloguer in the library of Oregon State College, Corvallis, Oregon.

Saxon (Voss) Scarborough is teaching a private class in piano at her home, Statesville.

Margaret (Young) Wall is treasurer of the North Carolina Bird Club. She is also secretary of the Guilford County Alumnae Association, and is active in other civic clubs in Greensboro.

1935

Bennie Lee (Craig) Inman is chairman of the Greensboro Junior League Book Club. Under her leadership excellent programs are being put on this year.

Barbara Graves has been in Paris since August, 1945, in charge of the Continental Women's Division of the American Red Cross—specifically in charge of all American Red Cross women in Europe. A recent number of Over Here, published bi-monthly by American Red Cross Headquarters in Paris has this to say about Barbara's work:

ARC Staff Service is being streamlined to do for its own personnel what the Red Cross does for the troops, under the direction of Miss Barbara Graves, former director of air force Red Cross combat rest houses in the United Kingdom. Miss Graves makes her headquarters in Paris.

"Our is an off-the-job service for all American Red Cross personnel," Miss Graves says. "We expect to have one member of Staff Service stationed within the next few weeks at each regional headquarters. Our first step is to assure you that the doors of Staff Service always will be open." Staff service people in the field will handle personal service for Red Cross workers in their area. For example, a field worker planning to spend the weekend in Paris can contact the Staff Service worker in his area, who will arrange for a billet in Paris and make in advance any appointments he may desire to make there.

Among other functions assigned to Staff Service are meeting, billeting, orienting and scheduling appointments for new personnel coming in from the U. S. or other theaters.

As a part of this program, 104 new RC workers were billeted and oriented on their arrival, and entertained at the Commissioner's tea August 6 at the new ARC Park club. A similar service has begun for personnel clearing to leave the ETO. Staff Service also will operate the staff room which provides shopping information, theater guides, reading and writing facilities. Other services available for Red Cross personnel not only will be continued but more will be developed, Miss Graves said, including ARC quotas for U. S. army leave tours such as the trip through Switzerland now available to Red Cross personnel. Arrangements for all such leaves will be handled through the Staff Service office.

Pauline (Johnson) Fulghum writes from Green Cove Springs, Fla. She is keeping house and taking care of her small daughter, Jane.

Frances (Jones) Ernst's husband, a lieutenant (j. g.) in the Navy, returned to Greensboro last fall after 45 months in active service. Three years of this time was spent at sea and in the American and European War Theatres. Upon the expiration of his terminal leave, he reverted to an inactive status in the Coast Guard Reserve.

Heath (Long) Beckwith, and little Rosa, continue to live in Warrenton, waiting for her husband to find a house in Charlotte. He is in business there, since his discharge from the Army, as an industrial consultant.

Anna Mary Pierce has recently gone to Plymouth, where she is medical technologist at the Plymouth Clinic. She had previously been employed for two years at ORD, Greensboro, as an instructor technologist. While in college, she was president of the Physics Club, and of the Chemistry Club, and since her graduation has had experience as medical technologist in other hospitals and with private physicians. Somewhere along the line, Anna Mary spent some time in New York City at Manhattan Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital, and in Meadville, Pa., studying orthotics at Keystone Hospital.

1936

Gladys (Draper) Seawell is president of the Greensboro Branch of the A.A.U.W.

Betty (Griesinger) Sink's husband, Lt. J. Moyer Sink, Jr., was discharged from the Navy last fall. He had just completed eight months of service in the Pacific, where he was officer in charge of a hedron detachment on the Galapagos Island. For the duration, Betty and the three children—Betty Jane, Margaret, and John Moyer III—are living in Greensboro.

Lt. Margaret B. Holmes, WAC, is now in the ranks of civilians, and hails from Pawtucket, R. I. Margaret joined the WAC in November, 1942, and upon completing basic training at Daytona Beach, Fla., was commissioned a second lieutenant. She was assigned first to the Marianna Army Air Field, Fla., as executive officer. From there she was transferred to the South Plains Army Air Field, Lubbock, Texas, as adjutant and commanding officer of the WAC. Next she went on duty at Blackland Army Air Field, Waco, Texas, as personnel affairs officer, and from there was transferred to the Goodfellow Army Air Field, San Angelo, Texas—again as personnel officer. Shortly before Christmas holidays, Margaret wrote, "Now my application for discharge is at headquarters, after three years of active service."

Bebe (Knight) Holt is living in Alexandria, Va.

Martha (Ogburn) Goodson is living in Wadesboro, where her husband is pastor of the Methodist Church.

Carolyn (Weill) LeBauer's husband, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Medical Corps, received his discharge last fall, and is now in Greensboro, having resumed his medical practice there. Dr. LeBauer served with the 8th Evacuation Hospital in Africa and Italy.

1939

Born to Lt. Col. and Mrs. John N. Taylor (Betsy Dupuy), a second son, Richard Thornton, January 22, Sternberger Hospital, Greensboro. Lieutenant Colonel Taylor is on terminal leave and the family is at present in Greensboro.

Erlan (Sloop) McNelly is secretary for the superintendent of the Iredell County schools, with headquarters in Statesville. Her husband served as a first lieutenant in the Army, and was stationed in Iceland.

Sarah (Trice) Wells lives in Winston-Salem. She has two children. Her husband is connected with the McLean Trucking Company. After her graduation from college, Sarah taught for two years in county schools, and for six years in the Fayetteville city system.

1938

Born to Lt. and Mrs. John E. Lawrence (Laura Bateman), a son, John Elmore, Jr., October 26, 1945, Norfolk, Va. The Lawrences are living in Louisville, Ky., where Mr. Lawrence is enrolled as a ministerial student in the Seminary there, following his discharge from the Navy.

Edna Douglas is spending a year in Ames, Iowa, doing graduate work in economics, and research, at Iowa State College.

Jane (McKee) Leonard writes from Jackson, Mo. "Paul was discharged from the Air Transport Command of the Army Air Forces on last December 13, after 20 months of military service—ten of these months being spent in the South Pacific. You can imagine what a wonderful Christmas we had. Our daughter, Anagene, is now 5, and will start to school next September. Andrew is 2½ and says almost every thing. But at times it takes his sister to interpret what he is saying! I should so much enjoy hearing from any of the '38's—sometimes I feel a long, long way from home."

Nan Norwine is still working as home economist for the FE Food Shops, a chain of eating places in St. Louis, Mo. Nan's father has retired from active business, and she is expecting him to come to St. Louis to make his home with her.

Mary (Shaw) Harper lives in Lebanon, Pa.

Gwen (Stegall) Baucom is living now in Greensboro, where her husband is connected with the Gate City Savings and Loan Association, since his discharge from the Army.

Virginia Tatum is in Washington, D. C., where she is a radio expert in the information division of the United States Department of Agriculture.

1939

Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Davis (Minerva Coppage), a son, John Legend, November 19, 1945, Conway, S. C. "I enjoy the NEWS very much."

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hawthorne (Jane Grier), a daughter, Jane Grier, December 18, 1945, Statesville.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Addison White, Jr. (Elizabeth Taylor), a son, Joseph Addison III, December 3, 1945, Sternberger Hospital, Greensboro. The Whites are living in Ypsilanti, Mich. Mr. White is working for his Ph.D. in music at the University of Michigan, in nearby Ann Arbor.

Eleanor Bundy is a freshman this year at the Medical School of Virginia, Richmond. She had been a hospital technician since her graduation from college, and entering medical school is the realization of a long-cherished dream.

Ruth Cash is secretary-bookkeeper at the Ruby Cotton Mills, Gastonia.

Muriel Coykendall returned early in the year from overseas service with the American Red Cross, and is now teaching a third grade in the High Point schools.

Sarah Virginia Dunlap is secretary to Dean Berryhill, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Julia (Godwin) Romney resigned her secretarial position in Raleigh sometime ago to become head of the department of business education at St. Mary's College. But after the war ended, she resigned this position also in order to join her husband, a lieutenant in the Marines, when he landed in California. They spent a month there in mid-winter, with his people, before going on to Arlington, Va., where they are making their home. Mr. Romney is taking courses in foreign relations at Georgetown University.

Mildred (Howell) Stoddard has been living for several months at Daytona Beach, Fla., where her husband is a lieutenant in the Medical Administration of Welch Convalescent Hospital. The first year after her graduation, Mildred worked in Washington City. She went from there to Puerto Rico, where she was connected with the United States Experiment Station. "Then I married—in May, 1941. Our daughter, Mildred, was born in April, 1943." During the war years, the Stoddards lived in Abilene, Texas, part of the time—before her husband received his present assignment.

Doris Hutchinson is teaching physical education in the Senior High School, Greensboro.

Frances (Joyner) Monk is living in Farmville. Her husband is a tobacconist there.

Josephine (Lowrance) Kummer spent nearly two years in California as an Army wife, but returned to her home in Louisville, Ky., last fall. "I drove back to Kentucky from the coast with another Army wife. We had an interesting trip, doing the northern route. Major Kummer is with the military Government in Korea, but he is hopeful of an early release from active duty. While in Fresno, Calif., I was associate organist at the First Baptist Church."

Aimee Moore served in the Army as a dietitian for three years—"two of those years were spent in Africa, Italy, and France. I am back home now, and plan to go to Columbia University to study for an M.A. degree, under the G.I. Bill of Rights."

Elsie Sanford has been discharged from the WAC. Previous to her discharge, she was editor of the attractive newspaper, Thayer Fare, published for the personnel of Thayer General Hospital, Nashville, Tenn. The Hospital ceased to exist as an Army hospital the latter part of December. The last issue of the paper, under date of December 15, 1945, carried a tribute of appreciation to Elsie from Lt. Col. C. B. LaDine, M.C., in which he said among other things: "To T/3 Elsie Sanford, the editor, go the thanks of ELLEN WHITAKER ALLEN, class of 1939, Durham, received an appointment in the American Red Cross in 1943, as assistant field director, and is now on duty with the Armed Forces in Manila. Her husband, a lieutenant (j.g.) in the Navy, has been in the Service for two years. Before his enlistment, he was a field representative of the Red Cross in Louisiana and Mississippi. After leaving Woman's College, Ellen entered Belhaven College, where she was graduated in 1941. She joined the Southeastern Area of the Red Cross when that area was created—her last assignment before going overseas being a month of chapter work in Florida. Her husband plans to return to Washington City after his discharge, to resume his former position as assistant director for the Red Cross.

thousands of patients to whom Thayer Fare has meant so much. The hospital staff, military and civilian, also send orchids to her for a job well done. Elsie joined the WAC in April, 1943. The Woman's College of the University of North Carolina and newspaper work for the Charlotte News gave her the skill and experience so well used at Thayer. As feature editor of the Charlotte News, she succeeded 'See Here, Private Hargrove,' before she followed in his footsteps and went to the wars. Coming to Thayer in May, 1945, she became editor of our paper in June following. We all wish her well as she leaves the service."

Pearl E. (Turner) Peebles is living at Dobson, homemaking. "My husband has just returned from 36 months of military service in England and North Africa, and so I resigned my position as home demonstration agent in Lee County, in order to be at home with him." Her husband is connected with the Farm Security Administration in Surry County.

Ballard (Wilson) Murphy and her family moved from Rocky Mount to Shabogon, Wis., the first of April. The Murphys have two sons—one 2 years and the other 6 months old.

1940

Born to T/Sgt. and Mrs. Hiram J. Cuthrell (Mary Osbourne Ellington), a daughter, Lee Ellington, October 14, 1945, S p e i g h t - S t o n e Clinic, Rocky Mount. Sergeant Cuthrell is stationed with the 11th Airborne Division, Sendai, Japan.

Born to Lt. and Mrs. Lansing B. Lee (Natalie Krug), a daughter, Melinda Natalie, August 29, 1945. Lieutenant Lee is stationed at Ft. Bragg, and the family is living in Fayetteville.

May Davidson has been employed for more than a year as secretary in the office of the late Congressman Ervin, representative from the 10th North Carolina District, Washington, D. C. Previous to that time, she had been on the staff of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, Raleigh.

Lettie (Hamlett) Rogers is the author of a novel, "South of Heaven," which is to be published by Random House—probably this spring.

Henrietta (Jackson) Beavers lives in Weeksville. Her husband is a lieutenant in the Army.

Editha Morris was discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps last November, when she returned to her home in Tarboro to rest for a few weeks. Early in the year she resumed her former position with the Edgecombe County Department of Public Welfare, Tarboro.

Ruth (Russell) Sursavage is teaching in the Swain County High School, Bryson City.

Kathryn (Saltman) Zucker writes from New York City. The year following her graduation from Woman's College, Kathryn studied at Teachers College, Columbia University, where she received her M. A. degree in June, 1941. "The next year I taught music in a Fairfield (Conn.) school, and had several private pupils in piano, and (don't tell Mr. Thompson!) one in organ. For the next year and a half I was employed as an the WAVES, a civilian secretary, and I were on duty in the office. Many people came in of course, asking for information—we did our best."

Sailing time came at length, and Frances has been in the Pacific theater for several months. "Betty Clutts and I are together again today—on the beach at Kailua, having a few hours at the WAVES' beach cottage—Hale Luana (House of Contentment). We are enjoying our tour of duty on Oahu and doing some of the things we have always dreamed of doing—riding the surf and basking in the sun at world famous beaches; wearing leis instead of corsages; admiring the view from Kamehameha's Pali; learning to appreciate Hawaiian music and dances, and even toying with the idea of taking a few hula lessons ourselves! The biggest thrill of all came when we saw the mighty Third Fleet on its way home from Japan. I had the pleasure of dining on the 'North Carolina,' tea-dancing on the 'Wasp,' and standing on the exact spot on the 'Missouri' where the Japanese surrendered.

"V-J Day brought a celebration never to be forgotten—hundreds of ships in the harbor shooting up flares and searchlights, riddling the soft black tropical night. Occasionally we fly to other islands. Once I flew over to Hilo on Hawaii with the Marines to spend the day. Another time I was a week-end guest of the Army Air Forces on Maui, flying over in a bomber. I hope to go to Maui and Molokai before leaving Diamond Head. And before much longer—too we hope to see the Tar Heel State again!"

Lt. (j. g.) Frances Hunt Hall '40AB, Waves

Overseas in the Philippines

Frances Hunt Hall, Zebulon, is on the island of Oahu, in the Philippines. She was assigned to overseas duty early last summer. While waiting in San Francisco for transportation, she was attached to the office of Dean Virginia Gildersleeve, of Barnard College—the one woman in the delegation representing the United States at the United Nations Conference on International Organization. "My big job there seemed to be to keep away autograph hunters! A lieutenant commander in engineering assistant at Chance Vought Aircraft Company, Stratford, Conn. And then came the biggest thing of all—my marriage to William Zucker, of Bridgeport—my home town, by the way, on January 16, 1944. He has a B. A. degree from Johns Hopkins and an M. A. from Harvard. Now he is hard at work on his dissertation for a Ph.D. in Government from Harvard. At the present time my husband is acting director of research for the Commerce and Industry Association of New York, Inc. I am enclosing my alumnae fee—please see that my subscription to the NEWS begins with the next number. I am looking forward to a closer contact with the college in the future."

Helen (Schuster) Allen sent greetings for the New Year from Santa Monica, Calif.

Virginia Spruill is secretary to the superintendent of utilities, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Margaret (Wyatt) Glennon writes from Washington, D. C. "We are now on leave, my husband having just finished the Command and Staff School of the Marine Corps at Quantico. In the four months he was stationed there, we lived at Dumfries, Fredericksburg, and Quantico. When this leave is over, we are going to Parris Island, S. C., for duty; I hope we can see you sometime soon."

1941

Dorothy (Banks) Armstrong is continuing her work as home demonstration agent in Carteret County—since her marriage last November.

Virginia (Chapman) Ketchum wrote the last of January from Fayetteville, Ark. "My husband, Capt. John S. Ketchum, on terminal leave, is now working as field manager for the Ozark Playgroup Association. Although we could live anywhere in the Ozarks, we chose this place, primarily because it is a college town—the University of Arkansas is located here. We are completely sold on the town. After all, in the four years of our married life, this is the first time that we — and not the Army — could decide where we would go. Fayetteville is in the foothills of the mountains. I never thought I would see again country as beautiful as the North Carolina Smokies, but the Ozarks are equally lovely. We have been almost overwhelmed by the kindly welcome given us here. The housing shortage is the same here as in other parts of the country — much worse even than in some of the Army towns where we have been, since hundreds of veterans are returning to the University. We consider ourselves very lucky in having found a comfortable apartment in a remodeled former fraternity house across the street from the campus. I still have a close contact with the college through my sister, Elizabeth, a senior there this year."

Eliza (Dickinson) Ramsey is living in Wilson. Her husband is a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Forces. Eliza taught in the Department of Physical Education, Florida State College for Women, for several years before her marriage.

Mary (Farlow) Leagans is classification analyst in the personnel department, Moore General Hospital, Black Mountain.

Margaret (Fordham) Wilson is now living in Atlanta, Ga. Her husband is publicity director of radio station WSB. He also does announcing. Mr. Wilson was an announcer with radio station WBIG, Greensboro, before going to Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, where he was a member of the faculty in the Department of Speech, previous to accepting his present position. Margaret says they both like Atlanta and the work with WSB. The Wilsons brought their daughter to Greensboro last summer to see her respective grandparents.

Dorothy Wray Harless writes from Washington City. "I recently attended the Graduate School for Federal Personnel — an organization which is under the general direction of the Department of Agriculture, taking two courses — one on Contemporary Russia and the other on Government Printing Procedure. I enjoyed both of these courses very much, and was as thrilled over getting excellent marks as in my college days."

Eugenia (Kearns) Kirkman lives in Fayetteville, where she is homemaking. Her husband is in the Army.

Frances (Kerner) McCoy, Bakersville, Calif., writes joyfully about the liberation of her husband as a prisoner of war and his return home. "As you know, Jeff was missing in action for a long time. Then we heard from him toward the last of May, 1945. He had been a prisoner in the Mooseburg Camp, near Munich. He was returned to the United States on June 20, and for a week after landing was in a Government hospital. However, he is fine now, and of course has many stories to tell of what happened on the other side. Jeff expects to remain in the Army for a while at least, and so we can't tell where our next assignment will take us."

Juanita (Miller) Spector is living in Seattle, Wash., where her husband is a student at Washington University.

Alva North has been discharged from the WAVES and has entered the graduate school of the University of Washington, Seattle.

Alice (Peters) MacMackin writes from Schenectady, N. Y. "My husband is still with the Law Department of the General Electric Company. The housing situation is acute in this city — as everywhere else, but we do have hope of getting a house of our own this spring. Daughter Cynthia is my full time job. Of course we think she is the world's No. 1 child, but according to Gesell she is progressing normally. At this stage, she chatters constantly, making sounds that to her fond parents are very beautiful, if not intelligible. We are confident however that it will not be long before we can book her for a lecture series!"

Elizabeth (Root) Parke is curator at the Staten Island (N. Y.) Institute of Arts and Sciences.

Blanche (Rubin) Ginsburg lives in Brookline, Mass. She has a son, Richard Martin, nearly 2. Blanche and the boy visited her husband's people in Greensboro last fall.

Helen Sherwin is in Washington City now as a plantologist with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Delilah Siler has a new job — dietitian at De Paul Hospital, Norfolk, Va. "I think I am going to like my work here. This is a beautiful new hospital, with new equipment, and such a nice kitchen! Any dietitian would be proud to work in it."

Louise (Worthy) Isley is teaching a seventh grade at Belwood.

Mildred Younts is doing secretarial work at the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Greensboro.

1942

Born to Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Croom Jr. (Frances Henning), a daughter, Elizabeth Burns Jefferson Hospital, Birmingham, Ala. Dr. Croom is serving his internship in this hospital. At home Royal Arms Apartment, Birmingham.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Ayres (Peggy Wallace), a daughter, Bonnie Jean, September 22, Drexel Hill, Pa. "Even though I have a heavy new routine, I did find time to invite Mrs. Dorothy Young, counselor in Weil Hall during my senior year, for dinner last fall. She is now Dean of Women here at Drexel Institute, in Philadelphia. Yes — we did reminisce about W. C.!"

Zabelle (Corwin) Norwood is living in Raleigh, having moved there from Charlotte last December, after her husband was drafted, to live with his people.

Beatrice (Goldman) Fisher writes from Baltimore, Md. "Captain Fisher has just been graduated from Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., and will be stationed in Albany, N. Y. Jane and I expect to join him as soon as we can find a place there to live. I shall appreciate it if you will pass this word along to any of my classmates who may be living in or around Albany. We have started a college education fund for Jane, and we hope she will choose Woman's College."

Ruth (Heffner) Self is living in Chapel Hill, where she is connected with the University of North Carolina Press.

Frances (Henry) Crutchfield is a biochemist at the Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Marjorie (Johnson) Johnson writes from Tucson, Ariz. "The major and I have very fortunately been stationed here in 'the old Pueblo' for more than two years. We have learned to love the desert country and especially these wonderful winters. But of course we are willing to trade all this for North Carolina — for keeps. Best remembrances to all the '42's."

Beatrice (Mann) Steinberg has been living with her family in Whiteville, helping her father in his department store, since her marriage last spring. "I am of course eagerly awaiting the return of my husband from overseas duty."

Mary Summersett writes that she has been working in the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., since last June.

Margaret (Taylor) McKnight writes that her husband has been home since the latter part of last September. "We are living with his parents at present, but are planning to build our own home in the near future. You can imagine how happy and thankful we are to be together again. Tommy is working at Phipps Hardware Company, and that means we shall live in Greensboro. Do hope this will make it possible for many of my college friends to come to see us when they visit Greensboro."

Mary White Thompson was awarded an M. A. degree from Columbia University.

SARAH JANE HASHAGEN, class of 1939, Charlotte, is overseas in the European theater of operations, where she is serving the Armed Forces as an American Red Cross staff assistant, doing recreational work. Previous to this appointment, she was employed at the Morris Field Army Air Base, Charlotte.

sity last June. "This year I am director of physical education at the National Cathedral School, Washington, D. C. Thank you for the ALUMNAE NEWS. It is such fun to read about all the interesting things my college friends are doing."

Marvella Weaver is living in Hickory, where she is assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Marie (Wells) France is living in Rawlins, Wyo.

Alice (Wilson) Pearce spent the Christmas holidays with her parents, Prof. George P. Wilson, of the English Department, Woman's College, and Mrs. Wilson together with her husband, a lieutenant in the Navy, then on terminal leave.

Blanche (Woolard) Haggard writes from Chicago, where she is doing secretarial work in the Post-War Plans Office of the University of Chicago. "I expect to be here until my husband gets his M. B. degree — about next fall."

1943

Born to Lt. and Mrs. Charles A. Trice (Julia Cameron), a daughter, Julia Ellen, November 4, 1945, Anson Sanatorium, Wadesboro.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Bankoff (Jody Rendleman), a son, Joseph Rendleman, December 22, 1945, Nutley, N. Y. Jody writes: "I am sure this announcement will take care of my activities for the next little while at least. It has been a real treat to be in this part of the country, where we have seen so many college friends. Perhaps before too long, we three can get down to Woman's College, so that the other two can see that great place for themselves."

Nancy (Barden) Raburn writes that her husband, a former captain in the 82nd Airborne Division, is home at last — a civilian. "It is wonderful to be together again."

Frances (Burrows) Hill is living in Aberdeen, Md. "My husband was taken into the Army last October, and is now stationed here on the proving grounds. I have taken an apartment and am working in the Civilian Personnel Department at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds Headquarters."

Phyllis (Crooks) Coltrane's "Bob" got home the first of November last, instead of the end of December as was expected. "Needless to say the world is a happier place now that he is here. We had a marvelous month's trip to Washington, New York, and Chicago. He has gone back to his work at the bank here in Concord, and I am continuing my work at the church. We haven't found a place to live yet, and until we do, I shall continue my present job."

Tommy (Darden) Trevathan wrote last from Hialeah, Fla. "Joss is now a civilian, and is flying with National Airlines. Will you believe it — but no one knows better than you — we have had five different addresses since last September! I hope the one I am sending you now is permanent — for a few years anyway."

Sarah Elizabeth Ferguson, S 1 C (Y), WAVES, is on duty at the Naval Air Station, Atlanta, Ga. She says she is using the good secretarial training that she received at Woman's College. "almost

Jean E. McDonald '41AB

With the American Red Cross in Germany

Jean E. McDonald, South Orange, N. J., writes from Weisbaden, Germany: "Just to be sure that I shall though the Navy-way is somewhat different from Woman's College way. But life in the barracks is not too much different from that in Shaw Hall!" Sara Elizabeth took boot training at Hunter College, beginning in November, 1944. From there she was sent to Yeoman School, Cedar Falls, Iowa, and from there to Pensacola, Fla., and then came her present assignment.

Frances (Glaze) Koestline lives at Welcome, where her husband has recently begun his ministry in one of the churches, following his graduation last August from Garrett Biblical Institute.

Sara Heath writes from Wilmington, Del., that she is still holding her ground among the Yanks, "and still enjoying my work here as a junior chemist with the DuPonts. I look forward to each number of the ALUMNAE NEWS. If any of my Woman's College friends should come this way, I hope they will drop in to see me."

Gaynelle Hogan assumed her duties the first week in January, as home demonstration agent in Lee County, with headquarters in Sanford.

Helen (Kemp) Whitney wrote that her husband was promoted to captain on his way back to the United States, after serving two years overseas with the engineering troops. "Frank was discharged in Alexandria, La., and for several weeks afterwards we visited our relatives and saw a good deal of the country here and not miss any copies of the ALUMNAE NEWS, here is my new address. Through a series of psychological movements and correct timings and mostly sheer good luck, I have received the cream of all assignments! When the war ended I wanted to take a whack at the theater, and suddenly — here I am! Five Red Cross girls were assigned to work with the Army as a stock company putting on plays in the Opera House. This theater is quite the most completely and magnificently equipped that I have ever seen. Elevator stages, lights, prop rooms, costumes, and scenery to make any Play-Liker positively drool! All that one could ever dream of wanting is here. Rehearsals should start this week for Dear Ruth, and I'm champing at the bit! Aycock stage crews were considerably easier to understand, since we have Germans here and are of necessity fast learning a one-sided German vocabulary of stage terms. Verbs have not been mastered, but violent gestures fill in all gaps! Ran into Play-Liker Howard Parrish in Paris — he should be home soon. To be here at work in the theater is like coming home again at last and should certainly take a lot of rust out of my system. Please keep the ALUMNAE NEWS coming across the Atlantic."

there. The first of January we came to Blacksburg, Va., found a grand little apartment, where we are using our own furniture, and where my husband is in school at V. P. I. We are enjoying everything and Frank says he doesn't really feel as though he were in school."

Winifred (Langley) Griffin is back at her home in Rocky Mount, after having been in Norfolk, Va., for some months previous to the overseas duty of her husband. "I really came home last May, when Lee went to the Pacific. He is in the Navy you know. From California he went out to the Philippines, where he was assigned to duty on a supply ship. Luckily for us, the war was over long before we believed it possible, and soon he was writing about coming home, 'if, when, and maybe.' Finally, after several months of waiting, he was transferred to an island for transportation back to the States. It took him three weeks to come across, but he reached California last October 23, and from there came to Camp Shelton, Va., for discharge. He had been exactly 45 months in the Navy the very day he was discharged! You can imagine what a Christmas we had together this year. We are now in the throes of trying to find a place to live. There seem to be a hundred people who want everything we have even heard about — and nobody ever moves! Won't it be grand when the strikes end, now that the war is over, and the world settles down a little to a normal pace again. I am still working as secretary to the division store-keeper for the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company. Incidentally, I am the only girl in an office with 17 men. My husband is trying to get started in business of his own—it will take a little time of course. But we are hoping."

Peggy (Lincoln) Bates and her two-year-old son have been living with her husband's parents in Tryon, this winter, since her mother is at Rollins College as resident head of Chase Hall. "Ted is in Germany with the 7th Army but hopes to get home by summer. Since he has been overseas for more than a year, I am hoping that he will get back this spring. To help make the time pass faster, I am filling an emergency teaching position, taking the place of the teacher of the third grade whose husband has just come from overseas. I am blessing the day I decided to take child psychology and behavior problems, since I never had any teacher training."

Sarah Frances (Martin) Pearce is secretary for the Seaboard Air Line Railway, Raleigh. Her husband, a pilot in the AAF, was discharged last fall, and has returned to Wake Forest College, to resume his pre-medical course.

Dorothy Morrison gave up her position as laboratory technician at the Moore Army General Hospital, Swannanoa, during March, and is now at the University of New York, where she is working part time and going to school part time.

Minnie (Perkins) Barrow has been staying at home with her parents since her marriage last summer, awaiting the discharge of her husband—an ensign in the Navy, serving as a navigator aboard a destroyer escort, on duty in Japan.

Eloise (Rankin) Taylor writes from Santa Monica, Calif., "where I am still working at AiResearch, an excellent small defense plant, making high altitude equipment for planes. It has quite a reputation in this area for being good to its employees, and I enjoy my work in the accounting department. In our spare time, we have raised a family of three blond cocker spaniels, and have just given two of the puppies away. We like California very much, and have opportunity to do and see many interesting things. We have seen a number of the glamorous movie stars, as well as numerous points of interest in this part of the country. I think one could live here a lifetime and still find something new and exciting to do. However, there is no place like home, and Roger and I are really living for the day when he will be given his release from the Army and we can return to High Point, North Carolina! When that day comes, we shall certainly drop in to see you at the college. Roger still has the same job here at North American he had two years ago, and so far as we know now, will continue there for some time."

Frances (Rivenbank) Nichols has recently returned to her old home in Wallace, after spending several months in Columbia, S. C., where her husband, a captain in the Army, was stationed. They have a daughter, 19 months old. "I enjoy the ALUMNAE NEWS very much—it is almost the only means I have to keep in touch with my classmates."

Jean (Scott) Suttles is homemaking in Durham.

Anne (Walker) Vernon's husband, when last heard from early in the year, was on his way home after more than 18 months in the Pacific, as an engineering officer on an LCI.

Sarah Jane Womack is doing secretarial work in Durham.

1944

Born to Lt. Col. and Mrs. George W. Lane Jr. (Frieda K. Boger), a daughter, December 31, 1945, Bolling Field Station Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bernard Pratt Jr. (Eugenia Cox), a daughter, Penelope Jean, January 7, Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem. "My husband will not get to see his new daughter until she is about six weeks old. But when he comes home this time, he will be home for good. It will be a wonderful meeting and reunion for us. 'Penny' will doubtless be a future alumna of Woman's College, but it is a little too early to make guesses about her major!"

Born to Lt. Col. and Mrs. Zim E. Lawhon (Patricia Patton), a daughter, Elizabeth Cotter, Church Home Hospital, Baltimore, Md. Lieutenant Colonel Lawhon is in the Philippines, with the Army of Occupation.

Born to Lt. and Mrs. Fletcher C. Mann (Blanche Poole), a daughter, Sharon, November 23. "My husband was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1942, with an A. B. degree. He has been in the Navy since then, and is now skipper of the LST 400, Jacksonville, Fla. He will be discharged on April 15. In June, the three of us plan to leave for Chapel Hill, so that we can begin work on his law degree."

Nancy Anderson, Bahama, is doing secretarial work for the Red Cross.

Mary Elizabeth Barwick is back on the campus this year as the efficient assistant in the College Bookstore.

Frieda (Boger) Lane writes from New York City. "Since my marriage in New York City, my husband and I were transferred to Washington, D. C., where he was assigned to the Continental Air Force. We were fortunate in locating a lovely apartment there, in one of the newest apartment houses. I found it really pleasant, and not a little exciting, getting acquainted with the nation's capital in all the hustle-bustle of the speeded-up routine. I often ran into other Woman's College alumnae—always a delightful experience. Recently events have happened in quick succession, and great things occurred for George and me. On December 31, almost as a New Year's package, our little girl, Barbara, arrived in all the glory of her 6 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces. We think she is a real angel. No sooner had we brought her home from the hospital than George achieved his separation from the service. And now here we are back on our favorite stamping ground—New York City. He is 'Joe Civilian' at the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and I am playing house, as well as having a wonderful experience figuring out Baby Barbara's next move, and watching her grow from day to day. Before too many months have passed, we hope to bring her down for a look at her mother's alma mater—most likely her future college also. The campus and my friends there are often in my thoughts."

Anne Buckley is continuing her work as a junior assistant engineer, Western Electric Company, Baltimore, Md. "When I realize that I have weathered the reconversion lay-off, I give credit to the good training received at Woman's College, rather than the one year of seniority I have established. The work here is really fascinating. It is more than exciting to watch raw materials come in from all over the world, and then see finished coaxial cables with stencil markings in Russian next one plainly marked Greensboro-Charlotte, or Washington-Greensboro! My free time is spent as a Red Cross dietitian's aide at the Union Memorial Hospital. You know I took my degree in home economics, and my training get some outlet at least in the hospital. At first it seemed that every time I walked into a kitchen, the supervisor had gone, or the maid had just left, or the dishwasher was out of order. To attempt to 'aid' any such situation as this was not very satisfying, but I finally received assignments which involve ordering and serving special diets—especially the supervision and preparation of night nourishment. I feel duty bound to help, since so many of the regular dietitians are working in army hospitals overseas. Enclosed find my Alumnae fee.

NANCY LOUISE HOLT '41 Com., New York City, is now in Cannes, France, where she is hostess in an air force club. She is serving under direction of the American Red Cross, with which she became associated last June. Previous to this appointment, Nancy Louise was employed by Colonial Airlines, New York City.

It is a pleasure to send it because it means getting the ALUMNAE NEWS. I eagerly await the next number."

Martha Carpenter is teaching piano in Belmont — she likes the work there very much.

Elizabeth (Dilts) Kibbee has given up her position on Sunset Magazine, San Francisco, Calif., since her marriage last summer, but is still living in the California big city. "I have become a full time homemaker, and am making progress, as you will know when I tell you that I can identify the best vintages of California wine, eat (and cook) artichokes without flinching, extract the seed from an avocado, recognize an Olympia oyster, and so on. My husband is a Californian, nephew of the actor, Guy Kibbee. The only alumna I have seen since coming to these parts is Jean Jorgenson, but she has now deserted back to the East. It looks as though I myself am here indefinitely.

Betty Dorton writes from Shelby. "I know you are obliged to have a full time job keeping in touch with all of us W. C. gals. But I for one think that your efforts are not in vain. The ALUMNAE NEWS is one piece of literature that I simply will not put down until I have read every word. I decided to give up my career with the OPA in Charlotte, and am hanging my hat up in Shelby again, as you see. I am now secretary and bookkeeper for Gilliard Florists here, and it is simply grand to be at home again. My work is not burdensome, and what is more, I can have all the flowers I want to wear. It is really a beautiful job! Enclosed find my alumnae fee — don't let me miss a number of the NEWS."

Anita (Fite) Jennings is now in Boston, with her husband, who has recently been discharged from the Army.

Edith (Cole) Goodman is living in Asheville, where her husband is connected with the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company.

Grace (Forster) Etheridge is back on the campus at Woman's College as assistant director of dining halls. "I visited my husband at Camp Crowder, Mo., last summer, but returned to North Carolina when he was sent overseas in September. He is now in Japan, and I am here at Woman's College — until he returns."

Lois Fowler is a chemist in the process division, Standard Oil Development Company, Linden, New Jersey.

Janet (Griffin) Young is teaching Home Economics in the Wesley Chapel High School near Monroe.

Evelyn (Hansen) Sweet writes from Santurce, Porto Rico. "As you know of course I taught school last year in Humacao High School. I found it thoroughly interesting, as well as time and energy-consuming. When I would get home after class, I felt like resting — nothing more. In August, I was married at the little chapel on the Military reserve of El Moro, and we spent a week's honeymoon at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. When we returned, we moved into a little apartment, where we have been keeping house ever since. No — I haven't taught this year. There is much to keep me busy here in Cervantes Street — No. 12. How I wish it were possible for all of you '45's to drop in to see me!"

SARAH GILL '43AB

Hostess with American Airlines, Stationed in Los Angeles, Calif.

For a year, Sarah Gill, Kittrell, has known the thrill of being hostess in the air, having joined the service in April, 1945. She is based in Los Angeles, Calif., with a flight route at present to El Paso, Texas, and back.

"Along with a group of other potential hostesses, I was given special training for nearly eight weeks in classes held at Flushing, Long Island. During this period, we were temporarily residents of the Barbizon, in New York City. In these classes, we received specific instructions about our duties aloft — how to serve meals, personalized service to passengers, ticketing, company indoctrination, and other matters. Summer uniforms of chocolate brown were completed in time for our dinner graduation at the Roosevelt Hotel, when President Damon, of the American Airlines System, pinned on our wings.

"Ten girls in my class — including myself of course — were assigned to Los Angeles, and nine of us live together in a house in Hollywood Hills. One of our guests calls our kitchen Grand Central Station!

"Out of Los Angeles, American Airlines flies only East at present, and so our trips all have a lay-over in Texas. The majority of our trips have crew changes assigned at El Paso. Just across the border is Juarez, where we find novelties for gifts. After the return trip, we have several days off in Los Angeles before the next flight out. Flights in the West are somewhat more turbulent and made at a higher altitude than in the East.

"Our chief duties as hostesses are personalized services to the passengers and requests for supplies en route to make this service possible. But an especially delightful part of the work comes in those odd bits of time when we are free from our regular duties and can talk with some of the interesting passengers aboard. Not least delightful too are the gifts which all along come back to us from our passengers. For instance, on one occasion an executive of a pineapple corporation sent a crate of pineapples to our house in Los Angeles. Lipstick from representatives of cosmetic companies is not an unusual remembrance. Come take a ride with me on our merry DC-3!"

If any of you should come this way, be sure to let me know."

Betty Jo (Hauser) Newton writes that she and her husband are finally settled for a while in Washington City. "I am still working for the Navy Department, and Irl is connected with a radio engineering company here. I am dependent on the ALUMNAE NEWS for the latest information about all the gang."

Ensign Ann Henning, WAVES, is working in the division of communications, Navy Department.

Eva Higdon is assistant home demonstration agent in Buncombe county, with headquarters in Asheville.

Katherine Johnson is teaching a third grade again in the Wilmington public schools. "I have a smart group of children, and I'm expecting great things of them."

Mary Frances Kellam is an instructor in physical education at the University of North Carolina.

Myra Sue Killian is associate supervisor with the FSA, Mt. Airy.

Myrtle (Lutterloh) Swicegood is teaching home economics in the Albemarle schools. Her husband is stationed at the Army Personnel Center, Camp Gordon, Ga.

Gaynor (May) Button continues her work as a commercial designer in new York City. Her address is 83 Washington Place.

Doris (Mills) Fable has a son, William Edward Jr., born early last October. He is known as "Sandy," in honor of his reddish brown hair! "Needless to say, he's as cute as a button!"

Isabelle Morrison spent some time at her home in Cherryville after the carbon plant in Winston-Salem, where she had been working, was closed. "I took advantage of my 'vacation' to go to New York City, where several of the girls in the chemistry class of 1944 met for a week end. We made reservations at a hotel and put in hours of the time catching up on college news. A highlight of the week end was a trip to Staten Island by ferry, when we saw the harbor full of ships anchored in the Hudson River for the Navy Day celebration. Those of us who week-ended together were Lois Fowler, Sarah Rudisill, Lucile Kugler, Stella Efland, Lois Williams, and I."

Rebecca Oehler has been spending some time at Crile General Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio, taking training in occupational Therapy. She was expecting to finish the course this spring.

Mary E. Pattee writes from Newton Highland, Mass., where she is teaching history and science at Rydal Hall, junior division of the Ogontz School in Pennsylvania. "I am also continuing my service with the Red Cross as a Grey Lady. Teaching science makes me wish I had gazed with more intelligence at those crawling creatures called earthworms in Biology 1! The ALUMNAE NEWS is a fine magazine and a joy to read."

Mary Louis Phillips is spending a second year in El Paso, Texas, with the Girl Scouts — this year as executive secretary, having been advanced to this position from that of field secretary, the post she held last year.

Jane (Pittard) Smoak writes from Nelson, Va. "I spent the past year following my husband about the country, as so many Army wives have done. We saw last spring in Nebraska, summer in California, fall in Massachusetts, and are wintering in Virginia. We hope we'll end our Army career here."

Helen Cook Richardson is doing secretarial work in Washington City.

Lt. Mary Eleanor Sherrill is on duty as a dietitian at Lawson General Hospital, Atlanta, Ga. "This is an excellent hospital in which to be stationed. Better food just couldn't be found anywhere. I am the dietitian for the officer patients mess. We have been serving all along such things as shrimp au raud (made from fresh shrimp which has to be shelled) and frozen fruit salad. I eagerly await every number of the NEWS."

Margaret Simpson is connected with the Lawrenceville (N. J.) school, and expects to be there until next August.

Arline Steinacher has been connected with the Charlotte Memorial Hospital for over a year. "Nell Stephens joined me last July and we are both very much pleased with our work here. I have recently been placed in charge of the bacteriology department. I also had a wonderful time doing the part of 'Rebecca' in the production by the Charlotte Little Theater. It is really swell to be able to continue the fun I had with the Play-Likers at College. There was no such opportunity in Wilmington, where I worked before coming here, and I certainly did miss it. 'Steve' and I go back to the campus all along, and still see a good many familiar faces. But how things do change — even in this short time! Of course we see many Woman's College alumnae in Charlotte. Thank you for the ALUMNAE NEWS. It is a wonderful link between us and our classmates and college friends."

Mary Walker writes that she is working for the state chemist in Raleigh. "I have a wonderful job, and every day brings forth interesting experiments."

Geraldine Wall is teaching public school music in all the grammar grades in the Graham public schools, and in addition directs the Girls' Glee Club, the Boys' Glee Club, and the Mixed Chorus.

Julia Wolff is still a member of the staff of the Baltimore Sun. "I love it here as much as ever."

Margaret Woosley is teaching Spanish and English in the Wilson High School.

Hilda (York) Lane taught in the Westover Terrace Nursery School, Greensboro, until her marriage last fall.

1945

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Swanson Jr. (Sue Boaz), a daughter, Susan, December 3, 1945, Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem. The Swansons live at Pilot Mountain.

Bernice Anthony is now in Northampton, Mass., where she has a position with the State Hospital, an institution for the care and treatment of patients who are mentally ill. She says she likes the work.

Jean (Block) Middleton is now living in Hamden, Conn., near New Haven. She is secretary to a member of the faculty of Yale University.

Nell Bradford writes from Elizabeth, N. J., that "there are about ten members of the Class of 1945 working here at the Standard Oil Development Company, and we are always meeting friends over in New York City who were also students at college. Nevertheless I will not say that we are entirely free of nostalgia for the good old days on the campus."

Nancy (Currie) Blue completed the work for her degree in February, 1944. "Since that time I worked for five months with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, in Akron, Ohio; taught a seventh grade for five weeks at West End High School, and am now secretary to a firm of accountants in Pinehurst. In addition, I am keeping house. How I do enjoy the ALUMNAE NEWS!"

Irene Dillingham writes from Barnardsville that she taught last fall in a private school in Winston-Salem — "I had 10 boys and 4 girls, and they were the cutest kids in the world, full of ideas, and always ready to do something original. At present I am at home because of my mother's illness. As you know, I entered State College as soon as I left Woman's College, and remained there with several other W. C. girls until I started to teach last fall. Enclosed is my alumnae fee — I'm looking forward to receiving the NEWS."

Dorothy French writes from Warren, Ohio. "I am working as associate health education director, here at the YWCA. The work is interesting, as well as enjoyable. I spent my Christmas holidays at home in New York City."

Hermine Gardner writes: "I read the ALUMNAE NEWS with as much devotion as junior reads Superman! I enjoy news not only about my own classmates and college friends, but about the girls in other classes, of whom I have never even heard."

Alice (Haynes) Lanier writes that she is staying at home this year, at Welcome, teaching English, French, and dramatics in a high school nearby. "My husband, who served overseas in the 17th Airborne Division, came home last summer, and is now stationed at Ft. Bragg, awaiting his discharge. I have been back to the campus several times this year to attend concerts and other performances. I still feel that I am a part of the college. I want to tell you how much I do enjoy the ALUMNAE NEWS — I read it with eagerness."

Carolyn Harward is now a secretary to the president and the sales manager of the B. C. Remedy Company, Durham.

Mary Howell, M. S. in Home Economics, head of Home Economics Department, Mars Hill College.

Betty (Hudson) Driscoll, public school music, band and glee club, Salisbury public schools.

Lois Hutton, with Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, Greensboro.

Alice Innes, shorthand, accounting, and business arithmetic, King's Business College, Charlotte. "I commenced to teach VIRGINIA SANFORD '41AB, Greensboro, is overseas in the European Theater of Operations as an American Red Cross staff assistant. She transferred to this post last fall from her work as medical technologist at the United States Government Regional Hospital, ORD, Greensboro. Previous to her connection with the Army, Virginia had been a technologist at Cherokee County Hospital, Gaffney, S. C.

on June 4 last summer, and so by now I feel like a veteran! There are many Woman's College graduates in Charlotte, and I have felt at home from the very first. I am rooming with Paxton Elliott '44, who was my roommate two of the four years I spent in college."

Irene Joyce Israel, social service, Rockland State Hospital, Orangeburg, N. Y.

Alice James, at home, Laurinburg. "I spent three weeks in Chicago last summer, and later went to Myrtle Beach, S. C., on a house party made up of Woman's College girls."

Luna Jarvis, assistant in bookkeeping-accounting department of Norfolk Southern Railway, Norfolk, Va. "I spent my vacation last summer in New York City. Came here to work in July, and have an apartment with a W. C. alumna."

Jean Johnson, assistant director, Contemporary Arts, Inc., New York City.

Doris Jones, fifth grade, Lindley School, Greensboro.

Mary (Jones) Highsmith, homemaking, Wallace. "I lived in Napa, Calif., for four months while my husband was with the Army Air Forces at Fairfield."

Martha Elwell (Joyce) Goodfriend, homemaking, Stoneyville.

Nancy Katzenberg, personnel worker, Blum's Department Store, Philadelphia, Pa. "I spent the summer at Tripp Lake Camp, Poland, Maine, as an adviser."

Ann Keeter, laboratory and X-ray technician, Morton Plant Hospital, Clearwater, Fla.

Max Keith, M. S. in Secretarial Administration, auditor for Morton Chemical Company, Greensboro.

Annie Kidd, secretary, University of Virginia. "I live at home, Lovingston, Va., and commute to my work at Charlottesville."

Irene Kossow, assistant purchasing agent, Barnes & Noble Book Store, New York City. "I have finally become a citizen of the U. S. A. In a few months I hope to start graduate work in physical therapy, and then work with wounded veterans." Irene writes enthusiastically—though it has been all of six months ago—about the "reunion" which Hal and May March arranged at their apartment on East 44th Street, in New York City. But not a single saddle shoe, or droopy lock, or baggy sweater among the crowd, to make us feel like a gab session in the dorm! Take it from me—we out-Yorked the New Yorkers, in our slim and sleek and prosperous (though mostly phonny) looks! Some of the girls brought their husbands with them—Jody (Rendleman) Bankoff, for instance. Others came with good looking escorts. But a good many of us had as yet neither wedding bands, nor diamonds, nor dashing companions to display. But nearly all of us had interesting jobs, and we talked about them fluently. Our hostesses were not flustered by having to entertain the whole gang of us—by now they are completely at home in the great city. It was a good party."

Aurelia Lackey, assistant dietitian, State Hospital, Morganton. "Ruby Thompson '45 and I are assistants to Miss Sallie Mooring '31, head dietitian here. We plan meals for a thousand persons each meal, and like to do it. We have wonderful people to work with and a good place to live, and of course we see to it that we have good things to eat!"

Barbara Latham, physical education in high school, Ilion, N. Y. "I spent last summer working in a nursery school with children 2-4 years old. I also went to New York for a visit and saw as many Woman's College alumnae as possible. Bobbie Roy '44 and I made the rounds of all apartments that we knew housed W. C. girls—and oh memories!"

Elizabeth Laws, at home, Henderson. "I had a wonderful experience last summer—working as desk clerk at the Madison (Conn.) Beach Hotel."

Doris Lewin, clerical research worker, Foster Home Bureau, New York City.

Helen Lindsey, third grade, Bradley's Creek School, Wilmington. "I was scared to death the first day I taught, but I really love teaching now. I live in a house with 13 other girls, all of whom work, but no two of us do the same thing."

Ruth Lloyd, graduate study, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Ann Long, research in Latin and Greek, Congressional Library, Washington, D. C. "I am enjoying my work—it is really equal to another year in college."

Katherine Long, eighth grade, Kannapolis public schools.

William B. Lord, M. A. in Education, music supervisor for the Thomasville city schools.

Cornelia Lowe, teaching, high school Midlothian, Va. "Although I majored in foods and nutrition in home economics, I am now teaching American history, physics, chemistry, and biology! If Miss Barrow could only see me teaching valences and how to balance equations; and if only Dr. Gangstadt could see me dissecting frogs and earthworms! I am still marking time as 'Miss,' hoping my fiance will be home before long."

Mary McLean, at home, Clinton. Beulah (McMurray) Setser, homemaking, San Diego, Calif.

Dorothy Mann, assistant home demonstration agent, Rockingham County, Reidsville.

Mary Elizabeth Martin, home economics, Charlotte.

Mary Winter Mashburn, clerk-stenographer, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, Chadbourn. "I do everything around the agency except unload box cars—almost everything at any rate. My work is so varied that I never have time to get tired of any one thing. I began to work the last of June, but had two grand weeks at Virginia Beach during the summer."

Hilda Mattox, mathematics, Washington (N. C.) high school.

Alice Betty (Mauney) Snow, at home, King's Mountain, "eagerly awaiting a phone call from my husband, whom we are expecting home from Germany soon."

Mary Grace Maus at home, Greensboro. "I spent the summer at Camp Merri Wood, Sapphire, as a counselor in the craft shop."

Joye Miller, student dietitian, Riley Hospital, Indiana University Medical Center.

Valera Miller, graduate study in social work, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Frances (Moore) Ross, at home, Weldon.

Evelyn Mooring, laboratory technician, St. Leo's Hospital, Greensboro.

Jean Ann More, graduate work, School of Applied Social Sciences, Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Wilma Morrison says she is thoroughly enjoying her work in Kannapolis. "Besides teaching vocational home economics in the high school, I am managing the school cafeteria and teaching nutrition and diet therapy to the student nurses at Cabarrus Hospital. I am also adult adviser for a Tri-Hi-Y Club, and vice president of Chi Lambda Phi Club."

Evelyn Motley, student dietitian, Medical College of Virginia, Richmond.

Betty Mullinax, English, reading, and geography, David Millard Junior High School, Asheville.

Billie New, home service secretary, American Red Cross, Gastonia.

Lee Nichols, at home, Durham.

Nancy Nichols, first grade, Gastonia city school. Nancy lives at her home in Kings Mountain, commuting to her work.

Ella Mae Norman, assistant dietitian, home economics cafeteria, Woman's College, Greensboro. "My sister Helen '48 and I visited our sister, Gerry (Norman) Taylor '43, in Savannah last summer. I also spent several weeks in Pennsylvania, doing work with the Methodist Youth group."

Dianne Page has a new job—she is working with the USO Travelers' Aid, Greensboro.

MARY VIRGINIA SLEDGE, class of 1941, Whiteville, is in the Philippines, serving the Armed Forces as an American Red Cross staff assistant at Roosevelt Club, Manila. She was formerly secretary to the supervisor of Military Personnel Base Headquarters, Morris Field, Charlotte.

Marie Parker, home economics and science, Herring High School, Clinton.

Ruth Parker, home supervisor, Farm Security Administration, Weldon.

Hope Pate, physical education, Sophie Newcomb College, Tulane University, New Orleans La. "This is a wonderful old city—so much to see and do that it is almost overwhelming. Last summer I taught swimming and served as life guard at the pool in Goldsboro."

Elizabeth Pearce, piano studio, New Bern. "I went back to the campus last summer to study for two weeks in Mr. Conrad's master piano class. Commenced to teach here on Monday, September 17. I love it! Be sure to send the ALUMNAE NEWS—I should be lost without it."

Jean Pegram, home demonstration agent, Harnett County, Lillington.

Barbara Pettit is now working in the radio department of an advertising agency in the International Building of Rockefeller Center, "and I love it. Last summer I was nursemaid to my 2-year-old nephew, and that was a full time job!"

Gwynnola Pierce, Spanish and history, Shelby High School. "I worked and vacationed at Blowing Rock last summer. I enjoy teaching this winter, although I do miss W. C. a great deal."

Betty Poe, aeronautical research, Hampton, Va. "I am certainly using my math to good advantage here."

Mary E. (Powers) Federlein, home-making, Raleigh.

Vivian Powell, home economist, Reidsville High School.

Mary Louise Price, student of interior decoration, Parsons School of Design, New York City.

Martha Ransdell, English and history, Bahama High School.

Susannah (Ray) Gwyn, homemaking, Richmond, Calif.

Augusta Reese, 8th grade, Yadkinville public school.

Ruth Register, clerical work, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, Fayetteville.

Lugean Riley, secretary, Information and Education office, Army Air Base, Pope Field, Fort Bragg.

Jean Ray Roberts, shorthand, book-keeping, commercial arithmetic, Winston-Salem.

Christine Rogers, home economics, Roanoke Rapids High School.

Mary Alice Ross, laboratory technician, Valdesc General Hospital.

Lu Ellen (Routh) Hooper has been spending part of her time since Christmas with her mother at home, following the death of her father, and part of her time with her husband at Wake Forest. "The housing situation is very difficult at Wake Forest, and we have not been able to find a suitable place to live." Lu Ellen started the year teaching a third grade in High Point. While there she wrote: "Mary Mashburn, Marjorie Bateman, Anne Bennett, Jean Blalock, Gloria Wagner, Lynda Etheridge, Hallie Etheridge, Kitty Furr, Connie Woodlief, and I went to Virginia Beach after graduation and spent two weeks together on a house party. Later in June I visited Gloria in Jersey City, where I saw my fiance, who is at the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy on Long Island, N. Y. After V-J Day, I spent the class of 1944

HELEN WINSLOW

WAC, T-4/C

Helen Winslow, Monclair, N. J., joined the WAC in the spring of 1943, but has now been given honorable discharge. She brought home a handful of well-earned decorations—among them, a WAC Service Ribbon, a Good Conduct Medal, the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon, with one Bronze Star, and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon, with one Bronze Star. She is authorized to wear also two gold bars, each designating six months of active duty overseas.

After receiving basic training at Ft.

rest of my vacation with my parents at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Ruth Royal, graduate study in English, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. I like my work here very much. Since I was chairman of the elections board last year, I can't seem to get away from politics. We have organized a third party on the campus here, dedicated to good student government rather than to political 'dead.'"

Helen (Roycroft) Rowe, homemaking, Tampa, Fla. "My husband was discharged from the Army last June, and is now connected with the Telephone Company, in Tampa."

Elizabeth Rumley, secretary, Standard Oil Company, Elizabeth, N. J. "Loafed all last summer. There are quite a few Woman's College girls up here. We have a lot of fun together in our work and going to New York City."

Avis Russell, newspaper work, Greensboro News-Record.

Oglethorpe, Ga., followed by two months in the School of Administration, Conway, Ark., Helen was assigned to permanent duty at Ft. Meade, Md., where she was attached—first to staff headquarters, and later to a reception station as personnel and finance non-commissioned officer. Here she aided in the complete processing of men who were returning home from overseas. In April, 1944, overseas orders sent her back to Georgia for a few weeks of strenuous training before embarkation from a California port. "I debarked at Brisbane, Australia, where I remained for a few months, and then invaded the jungles of Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea. From there I was sent into the thick of things in the landing of Leyte, but finally emerged into partial civilization again on reaching Manila. While overseas, I was assigned to Headquarters, United States Army Services of Supply, as a sergeant and chief statistician for the Army Exchange and Special Service Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific Area. I had many experiences overseas, some of which I am thankful are fading into merely bad dreams; others are still living with me—I hope they always will, and I try to recapture their essence through my paintings. After a year of active duty in the Southwest Pacific, I was evacuated to the States last spring. Until the latter part of the summer I was confined to Army hospitals—ill, due to climatic conditions and infections. I am now contemplating what my future will be in the somewhat unfamiliar role of civilian."

Cecile Scher, at home, East Orange, N. J. "I spent my vacation at the seashore, and did nurses' aide work three days a week."

Frances Scott, home economics, Taylorsville High School. "Carolyn Lowrance '45 and I are living together here."

Sarah Scruggs, control operator and member of the WBIG concert ensemble, playing flute, radio station, Greensboro. Sarah is also doing part-time study at Woman's College, in flute and orchestration."

Mary Anna Sharpe, analytical work for War Department, Air Corps, Atlanta, Ga.

Lee (Sherrill) Mathews, assistant to dean and instructor in business education, Coker College, Hartsville, S. C. At the time of writing, Lee was expecting her husband, a first lieutenant in the Army, to be discharged soon.

Hilda (Shoaf) Watkins, second grade, Central School, Winston-Salem.

Elaine Simpson, secretary of the director of advertising and promotion, radio-recording division, National Broadcasting Company, New York City. "Started work on June 15 — just love it!"

Katherine Simpson, computer, National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics, Hampton, Va. "I feel very much at home here, since there are so many Woman's College alumnae all around."

Louise Sinclair, physical education, Boyden High School, Salisbury.

Nelle Cooke Sloan, secretary, Veterans' Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Mary Jean Smith, working in State Department — Passport Division, Washington, D. C.

Myrtle Soles, instructor in the Department of Classical Civilization, Woman's College, Greensboro. "Last summer I did graduate study at the University of Michigan."

Virginia Spear, caseworker, Children's Agency, Louisville, Ky. "I'm living in the Neighborhood Settlement House. In addition to doing foster home placement at the Children's Agency, I am taking graduate courses at the University of Louisville."

Lillian Sprott, history, Walnut Cove High School.

Audrey Starnes, home economics, Marshallville High School.

Margaret Andrews Stone, caseworker, Travelers Aid, Greensboro.

Martha Ann Stroud, graduate work, Duke University. Martha Ann is studying on a scholarship. "I had a most interesting summer doing war work at Arlington Hall Station, Signal Corps. Nancy Cox, Ann Long, Frances Handley and I — all '45's, lived together in Washington City. They are still there. My work was in the personnel branch in the Signal Corps."

Doris Stryker, assistant dietitian, Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York City.

Lucy Stubbs, studying piano, Juilliard School of Music, New York City.

Elizabeth Styron, commercial advertising artist, Coe Advertising Agency, Syracuse, N. Y. "I sketch jewelry and accessories for Syracuse stores."

Sadie Suggs, laboratory technician, Melville Dairy, Burlington.

Mary Frances Sutton, claims adjuster, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, High Point. "I spent the greater part of my vacation in New York City. Pat Fordham Myrick went with me. We really tried to paint up the town."

Ruby Jane Swisher, English and library work, Rockingham High. I teach three English classes and have charge of a rather large library — both jobs interest me very much. I spent a month last summer in Detroit with Bonnie McCloy '45."

Ruth Talley, second grade, Fayetteville public schools. "I supervised a playground in Asheboro last summer and enjoyed it immensely. I like this business of teaching school, too."

Toto Thies, studying for M. A. degree in Religious Education, Presbyterian Assembly Training School, Richmond, Va.

Mildred (Thomas) Wilson, English, general science, biology and physics, Summerville High.

Betty Tilley, payroll clerk, Camp Mackall.

Cornelia Tongue, eighth grade, Wilmington public schools.

Eva Allen Travis, typist, Greensboro.

Rebecca Turner, home economics, Carthage High School.

Doris Underwood, secretary, School of Commerce, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Gladys Wager, secretary, Department of Political Science, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Gloria Wagner, secretary, chemical laboratories, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Elizabeth. "Last summer, I did secretarial work on Architectural Forum, a magazine with offices on the 50th floor of the Empire State Building in New York City. For vacation I spent two weeks at Virginia Beach with a gang from good old South Spencer. Jean Blalock, my roommate at college, came up to visit me last fall before her marriage."

Bernice Walker, chemist with Standard Oil Development Company of New Jersey, Elizabeth.

Eva Faye (Walker) Poteat, Homemaking, Morganton.

Mildred (Walker) Utley, homemaking, Jacksonville, Fla.

Dorothy Walton, recreational director, Sheppard-Enoch Pratt Hospital, Towson, Md.

Marylou Watkins, second grade, Asheville city schools. "I taught in the Asheville Child Care Center last summer."

Arlene Webb, sixth grade, city schools, Annapolis, Md.

Joan Weil, at home, Hewlett, Long Island, N. Y.

Janet Welsted, laboratory technician, Western Medical Center, Charlotte.

Jane Wharton, studying voice in New York City with Bernard Taylor, of the Juilliard School of Music. "Also taking a few courses there. Living in an apartment — having a wonderful time."

Cora (White) Pickard, working with the Selective Service Board, Columbia, S. C.

Arleen (Whitener) Petting, with her husband at his home in Indiana. They planned to go to Chicago the first of January, where he would resume his study at the University of Chicago. Arleen worked with Burlington Mills in Greensboro during the summer.

Kathleen Wicker, computer, National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, Langley Field, Va.

Beatrice (Wilcox) Fowlkes, Spanish and English, Fayetteville High School.

Jane Isabel Wilcox, at home, Stockbridge, Mass.

Sarah Wilcox, staff member, New York Herald-Tribune Home Institute, New York City.

Louise (Wilkins) Monette, homemaking, Turberville, Va.

Ella Gray Wilson, eighth grade, Dunn High School.

Margaret Wilson, 6th grade, Creedmoor High School.

Elizabeth Winston, vocational home economics, Apex High School. "I am teaching with Ruby (Womble) Scott '39. She is eagerly awaiting the return of her husband from the Philippines. During my summer vacation I spent some time at Virginia Beach with Evelyn Guldridge and Inez Schermer — both '45's. While there we saw a number of undergraduates and graduates of Woman's College, among them, Holt Pleasants '43, who was working there, taking a vacation from teaching music. I enjoy teaching, but I have discovered that one doesn't really know what teaching is like until she is standing in front of a class, all on her own, wondering what to do next." "Not long ago I attended a district rally of home economics clubs. The eastern section of North Carolina was represented, and I saw several members of my class and also a number of the '44's. It was a grand and glorious experience."

Billie Ann Witherspoon, secretarial work, GMAC, Greensboro. "I sort of miss going to classes every day, even though I'm pleased with my job."

Mary Ruth Woodard, commercial subjects, Laurel Hill High School.

Gwen Wynn, recreational director, St. Paul's Girls' School, Baltimore, Md.

Jeanne Yarrow, with the American Embassy in Paris.

SUSIE MATTOX '43BSPE. Pinetops, is overseas, at Fort Ruger, near Honolulu, as a junior hostess under the U. S. Civil Service, planning recreational programs for servicemen. Susie went over last June. She writes that an average day runs something like this: "7:15 a. m. get up; 7:45, eat breakfast; 8:30, go to club, check the cleaning of the club, and put everything in order to open at 10:00. This done, begin to make arrangements for dances, for outside entertainments, hula shows, stage shows, dancing class, or Bingo night, or a movie, and so on. At 11:45, go to swimming pool for a date and eat luncheon. Lie out in the sun on couches while we do this swimming and eating. At 1:00 go back to work and stay on duty until 6:00. That evening, go to a dance, or to a stage show, or a thousand other places. When I am on duty at night, I take a little time off in the afternoon to go surfing, riding, and swimming. Sometimes when I go off duty at 10:00 in the evening, I have a date with a party. But I've gained eight pounds regardless of this strenuous program."

Nancy Yokeley writes from Kingsport, Tenn., where she is secretary to the head of the Acetate Rayon Division, Tennessee Eastman Corporation — "the dream position!" "Betty Sherrill is out here also, and we are staying with a nice family. We have met loads of girls — from everywhere, but of course there is a man shortage. We have been encouraged to think that this is only temporary! Thank you for the last number of the ALUMNAE NEWS. Just to prove what a wonderful college my college is, I brought my copy to the office one day and passed it around. Betty and I will be looking for the next number."

bardment group of the 5th Air Force. Since his discharge last fall, he has returned to his work in the main office of Burlington Mills Corporation, Greensboro, where he was employed before entering the Army. The bride is director of cafeterias for the Greensboro public schools. At home Greensboro.

Kathleen Lauder '38 to Robert L. Anderson, January 19, Prayer Chapel of Dilworth Methodist Church, Charlotte. After spending two years in the European Theater of Operations with the Navy, the bridegroom is now stationed at the Navy Yard, S. C. Prior to entering the Navy, he was associated with Look Magazine, Des Moines. At home Charleston, S. C.

Maureen Moore '38, to Lt. Alexander Fraser Lilburn, U. S. Army, February 2, Asheboro Street Friends Church, Greensboro. Lieutenant Lilburn is an alumnus of the University of Alabama, and before joining the AAF was associated with a New York firm of private bankers. For over a year he served in China with the 14th Air Force. Maureen also served in China as a staff assistant at a Red Cross Club near Chenkung.

Elizabeth Craft '39 to Clingman O'Dell, December 28, 1945, St. Paul's Methodist Church, Shelby. The bridegroom received his discharge from the Army Air Forces last September, after having served three years. He is now connected with International Harvester Company, Springfield, Ohio. At home there.

Emma King McNeill '40 to Paul Charles Seyfried, December 26, 1945, Chestnut Street Methodist Church, Lumberton. Mr. Seyfried served with the U. S. Army in the Mediterranean-European Theater of Operations during the war. He is now a member of the firm of R. F. Ziegler, Inc., Nazareth, Penna. At home there.

Dorothy Banks '41 to S/Sgt. Edward Charles Armstrong, November 3, 1945, Oak Grove Methodist Church, Pollocksville. Belva (Higgins) Thompson '41 was matron of honor. Sergeant Armstrong is stationed at present with the Marine Corps at Oak Grove Field, a branch of Cherry Point.

Lt. Rama Vivian Blackwood, WAVES '41 to Master Sgt. Edward George Monahan, January 12, St. Peters Catholic Church, Charlotte. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of California. He served a year overseas, on Okinawa, with the Marine Corps. The bride is now stationed at Navy Yard, S. C., and the bridegroom is currently stationed at Cherry Point.

Nellie Montague Gravely '41, to Earl Stanley Rogers, December 22, 1945, Bethel Hill Baptist Church, Roxboro. Mr. Rogers recently received his discharge, after three years with the U. S. Army, and is now with Robertson Tobacco Company, Durham. The bride is a member of the Bethel Hill School faculty.

Heleg K. Mulligan '41 to Rev. Robert Lansing Hicks, September 29, 1945, St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Winston-Salem. At home Weldon.

Beulah Dare Ormand '41 to David Arch Nelson, December 9, 1945, Queen Street Methodist Church, Kinston. Mr. Nelson served with the U. S. Army Air Corps during the war and was stationed for some time at Casablanca, in Italy.

Janie Paschal '41 to Benjamin A. Thaxton Jr., February 9, Goldston Memorial Church. Martha (Paschal) Layland '44 was her sister's matron of honor. Another sister, Catherine Paschal '49, was maid of honor. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Mars Hill and Wake Forest Colleges. He was recently discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps, after spending many months overseas in Iceland and in the Pacific area.

Nancy Grier Smith '41 to Lawrence Cline Rose, January 12, Grace Methodist Church, Wilmington. Jean (Smith) Holman '42 was her sister's matron of honor. The bridegroom is an alumnus of The Citadel. He served for a year with the U. S. Army, and is now affiliated with the Rose Ice and Coal Company, Wilmington. The bride is the daughter of Nettie Jane Fleming '12.

Mary Blanton '42 to Capt. Paul William Vogel, AUS, December 24, 1945, Shrine of Sacred Heart Church, Washington, D. C. Captain Vogel is an alumnus of Roxbury Latin School, and of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. While overseas, he did postgraduate study in business administration at Shrivenham University, Swindon, England. Before entering the Army Medical Corps, he was assistant to the director of the State Health Department of Maryland, with headquarters in Baltimore. For sometime, Captain Vogel was stationed at Morris Field, Charlotte. He received his discharge from the Army in January.

Annie Lee Cable '42 to Lt. Warren John Vestner, AUS, December 22, 1945, First Lutheran Church, Greensboro. Lieutenant Vestner is an alumnus of the University of Miami, and of the University of Cincinnati and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He served in

MARRIED

Sarah Burton Clegg '34 to T/Sgt. Wylie C. Graves, January 18, Alumnae House, Woman's College campus, Greensboro. Jane (Clegg) Bradley '39 was her cousin's matron of honor. The bridegroom spent a year and half with the Quartermaster Corps of the Army, in England, France and Belgium. Since his recent discharge, he has resumed his work as salesman in North Carolina with Security Feed Mills, of Knoxville, Tenn., with Greensboro as headquarters. At home there.

Elizabeth Harvell '36 to Charles Franklin Miller Jr., January 19, Methodist Church, Weldon. Mr. Miller is a graduate of the Philadelphia Textile Institute. He served 30 months overseas in the Southwest Pacific, with the 380th bom-

OUR Spring Collection is now ready - showing the serenity and fun of the post-war fashion developments.

CLOTHES

translating the new and better life of travel, play and general ease of living.

MONTALDO'S

BLUE BIRD TAXI

1 passenger, 35c; 2 to 5 passengers, 50c.
25c each stop for not more than 5 minutes' duration.

Anywhere in the City Limits

DIAL

5 1 1 2

BAGGAGE TRANSFER

The Columbia Laundry

Launderers and Dry Cleaners
Battleground Ave. at Cedar St.

SILVER'S

5-10 and $1.00 Store

College Girls

always welcome at Silver's

JULIA HILL '45AB
S-2/C WAVES

On sentry duty at the main gate,
Naval Training School (W-R),
Lakehurst, N. J.

Julia Hill, Lexington, joined the WAVES immediately after her graduation last June and was sent to the Aerographers' School Training Unit, A. S. Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., for boot training. A few weeks later, she wrote to her friends that "Navy life is pretty tough at times, but I am not sorry I joined! Of the various assignments during our week of work detail, I was lucky enough to draw sentry duty at the main gate. This proved to be a very interesting job."

the southwest Pacific and is now stationed at Ft. McClelland, Anniston, Ala. Before entering the Army he was connected with the National Cash Register Company, Greensboro. At home, Anniston.

Carlyn Frank '42 to Lt. John Spencer Holloman, October 28, 1945, New York

City. Frances Templeton '42 was maid of honor. The bridegroom spent two years as an artillery liaison pilot with the U. S. Army Air Forces in Europe. Since his discharge, he has resumed his pre-war office as county attorney for Polk County, Texas. At home, Livingston, Texas.

Maribelle Guin '42 to Lt. Joseph Newton Farlow, U. S. Public Health Service, February 9, Presbyterian Church, Chapel Hill. Peggy Guin '46 was her sister's maid of honor. Mary (Farlow) Leagens '41 was matron of honor. Lieutenant Farlow is a graduate of State College, Raleigh, where he was a member of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity. Before entering the Army, he was a member of the civil engineering faculty of State College. Maribelle is on the faculty of the School of Public Health, University of North Carolina. At home Chapel Hill.

Dorothy Deal McDuffie '42 to Paul M. Rockefeller, February 15, First Methodist Church, Henderson. The bridegroom recently returned from the European Theater of War, where he spent 25 months, and is now connected with the International Business Machines Corporation, Henderson. At home there.

Makes Young Mothers Smile!

Modern Way Relieves Miseries of Colds Pleasantly—During Night

Today, the modern way most mothers use to relieve misery of colds is to rub Vicks VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime. Results are so good because VapoRub ...

Penetrates to cold-irritated upper bronchial tubes with special, soothing medicinal vapors.

Stimulates chest and back surfaces like a warming poultice.

Then For Hours VapoRub's special action keeps on working. Invites restful sleep. Often by morning most of the misery of the cold is gone!

Only VapoRub gives you this special penetrating-stimulating action. So be sure you get the one and only VICKS VAPORUB.

Marietta McLennan '42 to Warrant Officer (j.g.) Henry Lewis Forlaw, December 18, 1945. Asheboro Street Friends Church, Greensboro. Shortly before his marriage, the bridegroom returned from the Pacific Theater of Operations, after three and a half years of military service. He has now resumed work with Odell Hardware Company, Greensboro. At home there.

Undine Nye '42 to Capt. Harry Elwood LeGrande, AUS, December 23, 1945. The Little Church of Fort Lincoln, Washington, D. C. Captain LeGrande was graduated from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and before entering the Army did geological work. The couple are temporarily at home in Mebane.

Lucille Paton '42 to Maj. Linton Boatwright, AUS, December 15, 1945. First Presbyterian Church, Fayetteville. Major Boatwright was graduated in 1941 from the United States Military Academy. He served in the European Theater with the XII Corps Artillery and is at present stationed at Schwandorf, Germany. He arrived in the states last November on a 45-day leave.

Geraldine Rogers '42 to Capt. Roland L. Wolfe, U. S. Army Air Forces, December 8, 1945. Mount Vernon Methodist Church, Baltimore, Md. Captain Wolfe is an alumnus of the University of Nebraska. He served with the Air Forces overseas for four years, and is now stationed at Mitchel Field, L. I., N. Y. At home there.

Mabel Tate '42 to Edwin Medbury, January 4, Greensboro. Mr. Medbury served for over two years with the 11th Air Force in Europe. Since his discharge he has resumed his previous work with Western Electric Company, Newark, N. J. At home there.

Doris Geraldine Bullard '43 to Capt. Isham Pittman Jr., U. S. Army, January 4, First Baptist Church, Lumberton. Gladys (Sessoms) Elmore '43 and Margaret Hunt '43 were among the bridesmaids. Captain Pittman was graduated from Porter Military Academy, Charleston, S. C., and was a student at Wake Forest College when he entered the service. He served for 34 months in Europe, with the 377th military police escort guard company. At home Fairmont.

Carolyn Brooks '43 to Howard Adams Thomas, October 26, 1945. Falls Presbyterian Church, Arlington, Va. At the time of the wedding, the bridegroom had just returned from three years of service overseas in the European Theater of Operations. At home Arlington.

Margaret Jones '43 to Capt. Clay Ernest Murray, on Army terminal leave, January 19, home of the bride's parents, Reidsville. Captain Murray spent two and a half years in England and France. He has resumed his work at Meyer's Department Store, Greensboro. At home there.

Shirley Mason '43 to Julius Emmett Adair, January 12. Fourth Street Baptist Church, Portsmouth, Va. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Campbell College and was graduated from the American Academy of Embalming and Mortuary Research in New York City. He recently received his discharge from the Army, and has resumed his position as assistant manager of Adair Funeral Home, Beaufort, at home there.

Frances Bason '44 to Sam Boyd Jr., February 9, Morgantown, W. Va. Mr. Boyd is a graduate of the drama department of the Carnegie Institute of Tech-

For your every Jewelry need

BINES

JEWELERS

119 S. ELM STREET

PHONE 8787

GREENSBORO, N. C.

For the best follow the college girls to their favorite spot

THE GRILL

407 Tate St. Phones 7306-9465

Joe Showfety

E. A. WOODELL

Service Printer

Successor to "Kendall"

221 East Sycamore St. Greensboro, N.C.

PHIL R. CARLTON, Inc.

Real Estate - Rents - Bonding

INSURANCE

Carlton Building, Opposite Courthouse

Dial 8157

SILLS
IS THE WORD FOR SHOES
IN GREENSBORO

ROBERT A. SILLS CO.
BEAUTIFUL FOOTWEAR
104 NORTH ELM STREET

GREETINGS

MANUEL'S RESTAURANT

"We Serve the Very Best"

Special attention to college always

Prompt

Courteous

SERVICE TAXI

210 West Gaston Street

Dial 4185

WILLS
BOOK & STATIONERY CO.

107 S. GREENE STREET

PHONE 2-0175

ATTENTION!
March! Step Ahead!
IT'S HIGH TIME TO GET IN LINE

L O O K !

THE EIGHTH WAR LOAN SIGN SAYS
"Let's Finish the Job"

Odell Hardware Co.
 1010 Scott Avenue

The South's Finest Store

South Elm Street

GREENSBORO, N. C.

GIFT BOOKS
 STATIONERY
 GREETING CARDS
 LEATHER GOODS

THE BOOK SHOP

Mrs. Charles A. Farrell, Manager
 115 South Greene Street

nology, Pittsburgh, where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Both the bride and bridegroom are on the faculty of the University of West Virginia. At home Morgantown.

Mollie Iceman Bowie '44 to Lt. George McCann Marsh, on terminal leave from U. S. Army, February 23, Central Methodist Church, Monroe. Irene Carr Bowie '46 was her sister's maid of honor. Anne Carter '44 was a bridesmaid. The bridegroom is a graduate of Davidson College, and is a member of Kappa Sigma and Omicron Delta Kappa fraternities. At home High Point.

Lucy Corbett '44 to Lt. William Gilbert Hamlin, September 8, 1945, Fort Washington Collegiate Church, New York City. Lieutenant Hamlin is a graduate of Case School, Cleveland, Ohio, and received his M. S. degree in civil engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is now serving in the Sanitary Corps with the 80th Military Government in Japan. The bride is making her home in New York City, where she is foods technician in General Foods Testing Kitchens.

Emma Dell Dark '44 to Paige Perry, February 16, home of the bride's parents, Pittsboro. Mr. Perry served three years in the U. S. Army and was in the European Theater of Operations for 20 months.

Elizabeth Dilts '44 to W. G. Kibbee, July 20, 1945, San Francisco, Calif. Mr. Kibbee is connected with a printing and publishing business in San Francisco. At home there.

Janet Griffin '44 to George C. Young, Jr., December 22, 1945, First Baptist Church, Statesville. Mr. Young is an alumnus of Wingate Junior College. He served in the Coast Guards during the war. He is now in business in Monroe. At home there.

Juliana Hanks '44 to Robert Chester Johnson, November 6, 1945, Washington, D. C. The marriage occurred shortly after the return of the bridegroom from air corps duty in China. Juliana was discharged from the WAVES in early December. At home Baltimore, Md.

Mary Louise Holmes '44 to Frank Holmes, January 13, First Baptist Church, Lumberton. The bridegroom spent two years in China as representative of Briggs Manufacturing Company of Detroit. He is now associated with this company in Detroit. At home there.

Christine Lentz '44 to Ray Kelly, October 13, 1945, First Presbyterian Church, High Point. Betty Jo (Hauser) Newton '44 was matron of honor. Elizabeth (Bennette) Shackleford was a bridesmaid. The bridegroom is a graduate of Iowa State College, where he received his degree in mechanical engineering. At home Panama City, Fla., where Mr. Kelly is an engineer at the Naval Mine Counter-Measure Station.

Myrtle Lutterloh '44 to Sgt. George Webster Swicegood, AUS, December 16, 1945, Brown's Chapel Methodist Church, Pittsboro. Sara Brawley '44 presented a program of wedding music. Callie Vick Farrell '44 was a bridesmaid. The bridegroom was graduated from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. He is now stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga.

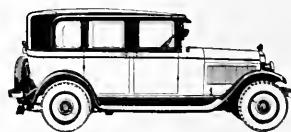

Gaynor May '44 to Courtney Meade Button, December 9, 1945, Long Island, N. Y. Mr. Button is a commercial artist in New York City, where the couple are at home.

Maxine Moore '44 to Cpl. John R. Hamilton Jr., U. S. Marine Corps, December 22, 1945, Main Street Methodist Church, Thomasville. Dorothy Sloan '44 and Rebecca Oehler '44 were bridesmaids. Corporal Hamilton is an alumnus of Appalachian State Teachers' College. He served for twenty-two months in the South Pacific war zone, with the Marine Air Wing. Temporarily at home Thomasville.

Nancy Parcell '44 to Milton H. Aycock, July 1, 1945, Rocky Mount. Mr. Aycock is connected with a concrete com-

F. W. Woolworth Co.

132 South Elm Street

DIAL 5161

YELLOW TAXI CO.

1 passenger in City, 35c; 2 to 5 passengers, 50c.

24 Hour Service Since 1924

New Equipment Experienced Drivers

struction company, New York City. At home there.

Laura Powers '44 to Joseph P. Haley, December 29, 1945, Norfolk, Va. At home New York City.

Rosalyn Reid '44 to Anderson Page Harris, December 27, 1945, Myers Park Presbyterian Church, Charlotte. At home Charlotte.

Gertrude Tomlinson '44 to Robert Howell Martin, December 25, 1945, St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Beaumont, Texas. The bridegroom is an alumnus of The Citadel Military College, Charleston, S. C., and later completed a course in marine engineering and naval architecture at the University of Texas. Previous to entering the armed services, he was associated with the First National Bank, Beaumont, Texas, and later joined Consolidated Steel Corporation, Ltd., shipbuilding division. Mr. Martin served for two years in the China-Burma-India Theater of Operations. At present he is engaged in completing negotiations for American enterprises in China. They are now in Shanghai.

Avis Russell '45 to John Ray Gallagher, February 22, St. Benedict's Catholic Church, Greensboro. The bridegroom is a graduate of Aquinas Institute, Rochester N. Y. Mr. Gallagher received his discharge from the Army at ORD, Greensboro, where he was stationed for a year, after spending 3½ years in the Army — two of these in Iran. At the present time, the bridegroom is connected with New Era Cleaners, Greensboro. At home there.

Frances Acree '45 to Lt. Robert Charles Hixon, AUS, December 14, First Baptist Church, Fayetteville. Patricia (Hiatt) McConaughay Jr. '45 was matron of honor. Lieutenant Hixon is an alumnus of Michigan State College, where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Just previous to his marriage, he had returned to the United States after fourteen months of service in the European theater.

Evelyn Glass '45 to Sgt. Donald Walter Durham, U. S. Army Air Forces, December 20, 1945, Greensboro. Sergeant Durham is now aircraft technical inspector at safety headquarters, Winston-Salem. The bride is teaching in the High Point high school.

Grace Hoyle '45 to Forrest Maxwell Barrett, December 21, 1945, Carey's Baptist Church, Henderson. Mr. Barrett is a graduate of Louisburg College and of State College, Raleigh. He is a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary fraternity. During the war he served with the U. S. Army in the European theater of operations. Both the bride and bridegroom are members of the faculty of Aycock School, Henderson. At home there.

Elaine Miller '45 to Harold Wesley Odenwald, January 5, St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Greensboro. During the war, Mr. Odenwald served as a staff sergeant in the U. S. Army, operating in the European Theater. He is now in business in St. Paul. At home there.

Virginia Betty Simmons '45 to William Wainwright Barber, February 1, Ardmore Methodist Church, Winston-Salem. Mr. Barber was recently discharged from the Army Air Forces, and is now connected with Piedmont Aviation, Incorporated, Winston-Salem. At home there.

Geraldine Morrison '46 to Gene Woodward Medlin, December 16, 1945, Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, Greensboro. Marie Smith '46 and Mary Little Hipp '46 were bridesmaids. The bridegroom has resumed his work at Wake Forest College, where he is a sophomore, having received honorable discharge from the Army. The bride is continuing her studies at Woman's College.

Shop at Sears and Save Sears Roebuck & Co.

BELL'S SHOE STORE

121 West Market Street

Dixie Sundry Shop

College Girls Welcome

SANDWICHES AND SODAS

Phone 9283 332 Tate St.

JOE SHOFFNER

THE COLLEGE SHOP

Society Pins and Gifts

405 Tate St. Phone 2-1414

S. H. Kress & Co.

5 and 10c Store

208 South Elm Street

Efird's Department Store

230 South Elm Street

*All Wallace Silver Patterns
Sold Exclusively At SEBURN'S, Inc.*

Phone 2-1771 116 North Elm St.
Greensboro, N. C.

The Lotus Restaurant

Chinese And American Dishes

105 South Greene Street
Greensboro, N. C.

GRAY JEWELRY CO.

*Gift Headquarters for Quality and Style at Prices to Suit
Every Budget*

Buy Here With Confidence

PAY CASH — PAY LESS

Phone 7347 105 West Market St.
Greensboro, N. C.

Matthew's Grill

"The Right Place To Eat"

Air Conditioned

Phone 2-1603 223 North Elm St.
Greensboro, N. C.

BOOKS
GREETING CARDS
STATIONERY
RENTAL LIBRARY
Straughans' Book Shop

116 West Market Street

GREENSBORO BOWLING CENTER

We welcome the faculty and student body

Phone 8046

341 North Elm St.

CHARLES

Greensboro's Fastest Growing Department Store

FRIENDLY SERVICE QUALITY MERCHANDISE
FAIR PRICES

We invite your patronage

AT WASHINGTON SQUARE
GREENSBORO, N. C.

OVER FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE

JOS. J. STONE & CO.
GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

PRINTING
BINDING
...
OFFICE
FURNITURE AND SUPPLIES

COMPLETE SERVICE UNDER ONE ROOF

NECROLOGY

CLASS OF 1911

Catherine Ervin died on November 3, 1940, at her home in Morganton, following a long illness.

CLASS OF 1916, COM.

Bertha Hawk (Mrs. H. E. Wedsworth) died early in January, at her home in New Bern.

CLASS OF 1933

Constance Lam died November 30, 1945, in Queen Mary Hospital, Hong Kong, China—her home. Upon her graduation here in three years with a major in Sociology, Connie, as she was familiarly known to her friends, was awarded a fellowship at the New York School of Social Work. There after two years of study and field work she received her professional degree. For a time she did medical case work among the Chinese in New York, and in 1936 she returned to China to pursue her medical studies at the University of Yenching in Peking. The war with Japan interrupting her plans, she went to Hong Kong where she almost immediately became director of a camp of 2,000 refugee Chinese girls, in addition to teaching classes of children and supervising handwork classes for adults. Her able leadership was early recognized by Dr. Selwyn-Clark, Director of Medical Services of Hong Kong, and his wife, Lady Selwyn-Clark, whom Connie once described as "the embodiment of a modern professional woman and a personal symbol of China's cause"; and through the perilous years that followed she was associated with these two as an intimate friend and as a member of their staff of social workers. She served in various capacities in the Foreign Auxiliary to the Chinese Red Cross and in the China Defense League; she also helped to raise money for the Anti-T. B. Sanatorium, and was honorary treasurer of the Eugenics League of Hong Kong. Later when that city fell to the Japanese, she was permitted along with other members of Dr. Selwyn-Clark's staff to devise whatever relief was possible for the internees.

Constance had a long illness in 1939 and 1940, brought on by overwork; and though she seems to have recovered sufficiently to meet the prodigious demands of the war years, she was not able to survive a second illness. The high esteem in which she was held in Hong Kong is attested by the daily newspaper notices of her condition during her last illness, by the impressive list of Chinese and British officials whose names were published as attendants at the funeral, and by the fact that the British Director of the Food Department in Hong Kong is writing a book about her. The last letter from Constance to reach this campus was sent to her dear friend, Miss Jessie Laird, in October, 1941. It closes with this sentence: "I somehow feel that I shan't live long, so I must return to Society some of her gifts to me."

We Extend

Deepest Sympathy:

To Clara (Boren) Peebles, class of 1908, Chase (Boren) Stafford, class of 1911, and Mame (Boren) Spence, class of 1912, in the death of their mother, November 30, 1945, and of their father, January 14, 1946, at their home, Greensboro.

To Catherine (Nash) McElver '04 and Catherine (McElver) Rowland '33, in the death of their husband and father, January 11, Dr. Reed's Clinic Hospital, Greensboro, following a long illness.

To Mabel (Cooper) Adams '15, in the death of her mother, during February, at her home, Taylorsville.

To Hortense (Moseley) Wooten '21, in the death of her husband, October 30, 1945, Baltimore.

To Mary Alice Fowler '26, in the sudden death of her father, December 17, 1945, at his home, Greensboro.

To Elizabeth (Murphy) Henderson '28, in the death of her father, Walter (Pete) Murphy, January 12, Salisbury. Mr. Murphy was a militant figure in the cause of education, and hero of more than one battle in the State Legislature for increased appropriations to the University of North Carolina and to the Woman's College. He was truly one of the great friends of our College. The State does not see his like often, and he will be greatly missed in many places.

To Dorothy Hendrix '43 and Betty Hendrix, Com. '43, in the death of their mother, December 3, 1945, at her home, Greensboro.

To Lu Ellen (Routh) Hooper '45, in the death of her father, Duke Hospital, December 24, 1945.

MASQUERADE

By RUTH BELLAMY BROWNWOOD '28

*How can I keep from you my inmost self
 While yearning for one tender look of yours?
 How can I bide my blazing cheeks—the elf
 Of love, sly one, lives laughingly indoors.
 My trembling lips reveal my secret heart
 Although they speak of weathervanes and wind,
 Or mumble cliches of the subtle art
 Of make believe, the dreamer's foremost friend.
 Now masquerade intrigues the eye of all
 And vibrant voices fill the mammoth room.
 Let "Romeo and Juliet" enthrall
 With whispered promises foreboding doom.
 Love's lilting lines fall softly on my ear
 But there's no need of words when you are near.*

Greensboro NEHI Bottling Co.

825 Battleground Ave. Phone 9824

VICTORY

•
 "We Bring
 the Big Ones Back"

THEATRE

The Merca

—
 "Greensboro's Most Popular"

RESTAURANT

228 West Market Street

ONCE A CUSTOMER ALWAYS A CUSTOMER

NATIONAL COMPANY
 JEWELRY

306 SOUTH ELM STREET

GREENSBORO, N. C.

for Smart Styles

VISIT OUR

JUNIorette
JUNIOR
SHOP

SECOND FLOOR

BELK'S

Southern Dairies
Sealtest
ICE CREAM

GREENSBORO, N. C.
PHONE 2-1125

Serve the Ice Cream that for years has had the acceptance of Southern people—Southern Dairies Sealtest Ice Cream—the discriminating hostess is always well pleased.

COLLEGE FASHIONS OF Excellent Quality and Style at Moderate Prices

Visit our Mezzanine Floor often for up to the minute fashions as they arrive from the Fashion Centers of the United States

Montgomery Ward

Protect Your Paint

—and your best insurance is

DEVOE PAINTS

Featuring the
2-COAT SYSTEM

This Devoe 2-Coat System doesn't try to saddle or shirk. There are two definite jobs for outside paint to do, and Devoe does them. Each coat does its specific work. The first coat locks the pores of the wood like iron, seals it against sucking up life-giving oils. The second coat is built to laugh off ultra-violet sun rays and weather, still sparkles after several years.

PAINTS FOR EVERY PURPOSE

KEARNS PAINT CO., Inc.

Greensboro, N. C.

112 N. Greene St.—Phone 4171

SPORTING GOODS
WALLPAPER

Flatter Your Legs !!

Be Nice to Your Budget with

MOJUD

The Dependable Hosiery!

Sheer . . Clear . . a flawless veil of smart new color. Dear? . . goodness, no! Mojuds look fragile, but they last and last. They're an investment in chic you ought to make. The newest colors are in now.

Mock, Judson, Voehringer Co.

GREENSBORO, N. C.
CHICAGO, ILL.

DECATUR, ALA.

NEW YORK CITY
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.